Experts Trying To Track Trail Of Sputnik I

Satellite's Rocket Expected by Many To Be Near Final Hour

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists prepared today to feed new sighting data into an electronic brain in an effort to predict more accurately when Sputnik I's rocket carrier will fall.

Predictions during the weekend that the rocket's fall was imminent were not borne out. One British astronomer who had made such a prediction revised it to say the rocket is expected to last for several days.

Sunday night, the rocket was sighted by skywatchers over northeastern United States.

Dr. John White, staff scientist at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., said those and other sighting reports would be used in a new computation of the rocket's present orbit.

White said the new data, fed into an electronic brain at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, may permit a more accurate forecast of when the rocket will take its fatal plunge.

* * *

SOUTHWESTERN Ohio residents will get a chance to look at the rocket tonight, according to Dr. A. K. Presnell, president of the Cincinnati Astronomical Society. He said the rocket section, now dipping increasingly closer toward earth, is scheduled to appear about 6 p.m. and may come as early as 5:45 p.m. due to slowing of the rocket speed.

Presnell said the rocket will appear first in the north, will travel across the sky to the southeast and should approximate the brightness of the North Star.

Some scientists have expressed a belief that Sputnik I, a 184-pound sphere, will stay on course for several weeks longer than its carrier rocket because the drag on it is much less than on the rocket.

Estimates are that the rocket, now traveling closer to the earth than Sputnik I, has covered more than 20 million miles.

The weekend brought these other developments:

1. Dr. Hans K. Ziegler, a German-trained scientist, said at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., the United States could have launched a satellite last month if President Eisenhower had ordered it.

2. Elbert Eaton, an Air Force research specialist, said in Bedford, Mass., studies now under way are aimed at sending three 1,000-pound satellites into orbit between 300 and 600 miles above earth, and at shooting a rocket some 4,000 miles into space. Each of the satellites, Eaton said, would be equipped with TV instruments.

3. Data, a trade magazine, said the Air Force hopes to have an experimental manned vehicle in space by 1960.

Ohio GOP Chieftains To Hear Ike Chat

CLEVELAND (AP) — President Eisenhower will appear at a gathering of some 200 Ohio Republican party leaders from the state's 88 counties Tuesday afternoon, shortly after his arrival here for a speech in Public Hall that night.

Ray C. Bliss, state GOP chairman, arranged the meeting. He said the President is expected to speak informally for 15 minutes.

Acceptances were due today from 100 or more public officials and civic figures who have been invited to sit on the stage in Public Hall when Eisenhower delivers a half-hour, nationally televised and broadcast speech. An audience of about 10,000 is expected to fill the big auditorium.

Conviction of Beck Jr. Scheduled for Appeal

SEATTLE (AP) — Conviction of Dave Beck Jr., 37-year-old son of Teamsters Union President Dave Beck, on two counts of grand larceny will be appealed and motions for a new trial will be filed, defense counsel said today.

The young Beck was found guilty by a jury of keeping for his own use $4,650 obtained from the sale of two Teamsters Union automobiles. His sentence could run up to as high as 15 years.

Okinawa Capital's Chief Is Sacked by Council

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The leftist mayor of Okinawa's capital city was fired today.

The Naha City Assembly ousted Kamejiro Senaga, stormy chief of the extreme leftist Okinawa Peoples Party, on a 17-10 vote.

The move is expected to clear the way for use once again of U.S. reconstruction aid funds, frozen when Senaga was elected.

Bread-Baking Tests Start at Pennington

Actual test - baking of bread got under way (above) at the new million - dollar Pennington Corp. commercial bakery on Clinton Ave. Sunday and was continuing Monday.

Howard G. Wright, 716 Park Dr., Pennington vice president and general manager of the Washington C. H. operation, said Monday noon that "We hope to offer bread produced in the new plant in the Washington C. H. area market Tuesday."

Wright said that the company plans to transfer its entire bread-making operation from Pennington's Cincinnati bakery to the new plant here on Sunday. The bun ovens will remain in use at Cincinnati for a short time after Sunday, and when all of the automatic machinery at the Clinton Ave. building is in full non - stop operation the Cincinnati plant, already leased to Colonial Stores, will no longer be a part of the Pennington production setup.

* * *

ALL BAKING for the widespread Pennington market area will then be centralized in Washington C. H.

Wright pointed out that, while activities at the new bakery here remained strictly on an experimental basis today, the quality of the bread turned out by the huge automatic oven is "extremely high."

Between 14,000 and 15,000 loaves probably will be produced Monday— a figure only a fraction of the potential capacity here.

The new Washington C. H. plant was built to replace the production facility leveled by fire in June of 1956.

Ohio Toll Very Low

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's weekend traffic fatalities dropped to a surprising low, if not the lowest of the year. Only four were reported.

Exhumations Pondered in Butchery Case

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (AP)—Township officials today pondered the problems of which graves to excavate the story of Edward Gein, who admits butchering two women and plundering the graves of nine others.

Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen of Waushara County said Plainfield Township officials were working on the selection of two graves from the list of eight provided by Gein.

The 51-year-old bachelor is in the Central State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Waupun.

He will undergo 30 days of mental observation to determine whether he is competent to stand trial for first-degree murder. He is charged in the death of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58-year-old widow whose mutilated body was found hanging in a shed at Gein's secluded farm Nov. 16.

The frail - looking, 140 - pound handyman admits he killed and mutilated Mrs. Worden and Mrs. Mary Hogan, a Portage County tavernkeeper, Dec. 9, 1954.

Mrs. Worden's body and the heads of 10 other women were found in Gein's two-story frame house. One head has been identified tentatively by Portage County Sheriff Herbert Wanserski as that of Mrs. Hogan.

Economist Says Population Hike Won't Curb Surpluses

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation was told here today that predicted population increases probably will not cut farm surpluses in the future.

Dr. Arthur Mauch of Michigan State University, an agricultural economist said the surplus problem is not a temporary one, and that studies indicate "that by 1965, we will still be producing more than the market will absorb at present price levels, in spite of a population increase of about three million a year."

He said both farm and city persons agree that farmers are entitled to earn a fair return for their land, labor, capital and management. "The problem lies in getting substantial agreement on what is a fair return and how it can be realized," he said.

Dr. Mauch offered seven alternatives he said might be considered in solving the farm problem. These alternatives, he said, are permitting the problem to work itself out on the open market; expansion of market demand, production control, adjustment of production within agriculture, transfer of income directly from non-farm to farm people by means outside the market, shifting of people out of farming, and combining some features of each.

* * *

ANOTHER speaker, Raymond A. Ioanes, Foreign Agricultural Service deputy administrator of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said the completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway will offer new horizons to American farmers through transportation savings.

"Studies indicate," he said, "savings of about 15 per cent per bushel on grain shipped by the St. Lawrence Seaway. Any savings will help make our farm products more competitive in the world market. The new seaway facilities will handle bulk carriers 10 times the size of the present 2,000 to 2,500 ton carriers now in use."

He told the federation that it is very important to American farmers that a high level of agricultural exports be maintained, and that "although the domestic market is and always will be our principal market, it alone cannot absorb the total production of our farms; foreign markets are an essential auxiliary outlet."

Another Trial Is Ordered in Robbery-Slaying

Appellate Court Reverses Conviction On Judge's Errors

CANTON (AP)—The Fifth District Court of Appeals today reversed the first-degree murder conviction of Harry Dale Bundy, 40, of Zanesville, and ordered a new trial because of the trial judge's errors.

Bundy was convicted in a Stark County common pleas court jury last June 22 in the slaying of Reynold Amodio, 30, who was shot during a robbery of the County Line Market at nearby Uniontown Nov. 23, 1956.

He was implicated in the robbery-slaying by Russell McCoy, 22, also of Zanesville, who admitted in testimony at Bundy's trial that he (McCoy) killed Paul Cain, 35, a clerk in the store, after Bundy killed Amodio.

The jury failed to recommend mercy for Bundy, making the death penalty mandatory. He is in Ohio Penitentiary.

Prosecutor Norman J. Putman said the ruling by the appellate court would be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court.

THE COURT of Appeals vote was 2 to 1. Judge Robert Putnam of Millersburg wrote the majority opinion, with Judge D. Deane McLaughlin of Massillon concurring. Presiding Judge C. B. McClintock of Canton dissented.

The majority opinion held that Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti, who presided at Bundy's trial, erred in instructing the jury on "aiding and abetting" because the issue was not raised in the indictment against Bundy and also in his instructions to the jurors that it made no difference whether Bundy or McCoy fired the fatal shot.

The opinion also held that the lower court erred and abused its discretion in not granting Bundy a new trial on grounds of newly discovered evidence.

Other than McCoy, only one witness (a 14-year-old girl) testified at Bundy's trial of seeing him at the County Line Market on the night of the double slaying. The defense, in asking for a new trial, produced new witnesses to refute the girl's testimony.

In this connection, Judge McClintock held that testimony offered by the defense was all cumulative to Bundy's claim of an alibi. He pointed out that the new witnesses were from the Canton vicinity and accessible to the defense at the trial.

Pope Says Doctor May Halt Artificial Respiration Effort

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII says a doctor may halt artificial respiration if the patient's family desires.

The pontiff said Sunday the family might feel the attempt at reanimation "constitutes for the family a burden which in conscience they cannot accept."

This would not be mercy killing, "which would never be legitimate," the pope said.

"The technique of reanimation is not in iteself immoral because the patient, if capable of personal decision, could give the doctor authorization," the pope said. "On the other hand, since this form of treatment goes beyond ordinary methods, one cannot maintain that it would be obligatory."

Sputnik Carrier Visible Tonight

CAMERIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The rocket satellite that hurled Sputnik I into the air may be seen twice in most parts of the United States tonight.

Moving in a northwest to southeast direction, the rocket is scheduled to make a passage over Columbus, Ohio, about 6:13 p.m. EST.

The rocket is expected to be about 240 miles high.

Arrow Carries Extortion Note

WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—Police said today they suspect juveniles are involved in an unusual extortion attempt.

A steel-tipped arrow with a crudely printed note attached was fired into the shingles of the home of the Henry M. Viau family Sunday. The note read:

"Don't call the police if you don't want to get hurt. Leave 10 dollars at your front door by 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

"P.S.—Leave the money in an anllope (sic). No change please. We are desprate (sic) so no funny tricks."

$40 Billion Fund For Arms OKd

Ike's Tentative Nod Said Given to Outlay

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tribune said today that President Eisenhower has tentatively approved a Pentagon request for new funds totaling more than 40 billion dollars for the 1959 fiscal beginning next July 1.

The Tribune, in a dispatch from Washington, quoted Pentagon sources for the information. It said the new total is approximately 4 billion dollars more than was appropriated by Congress for this year.

Tribune staff writer Lloyd Norman said:

"With defense budget makers working late hours rushing the final draft of the Pentagon's money requirements and spending plans for the 1959 fiscal year, usually well informed officials told a reporter that military spending would climb to approximately 39 billion dollars.

"This is less than the cash outlay request because not all the new fupds are spent in the same year but are spread over several years on constructions and production contracts."

The story further said that latest estimates for military spending in the current fiscal year total $38,700,000,000 — 700 million above the original Eisenhower ceiling of 38 billion. This ceiling was officially eased last month by 400 million dollars and will be relaxed by another 300 million dollars for the second half of the fiscal year.

"Despite economy cuts in military operations," the Tribune said, ... "spending keeps creeping higher because of the speedup in missile production schedules and rising costs."

"Seasoned forecasters at the Pentagon were willing to bet that spending, spurred by Russian rocket successes, would probably go to 39 billion dollars or higher.

"Such a spending rate would virtually eliminate the chances for a tax cut next year and even threaten a balanced budget, especially if business activity continues to decline, they said."

Southern Texas Gets Heavy Snow

DALLAS (AP)—A snow called the heaviest in 30 years struck deep into western and southern Texas over the weekend, stalling traffic, spreading beneficial moisture and giving the kids a thrill.

A record 14 inches of snow paralyzed Concho County in lower west central Texas Sunday. An estimated 300 motorists were stranded, jamming cafes and the two hotels in Eden.

The tomato crop around Laredo was ruined and the chill weather nipped at winter vegetables in the lush lower Rio Grande Valley.

Imitating Television Cowboy Injures Boy, 11

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eugene Keller, 11, was just imitating the cowboys he saw on television when he started a game with a friend to see which boy could draw a revolver quickest.

But Eugene and his friend, Terry Harter, 17, did not know the .22 caliber revolver was loaded, investigators said. As a result, Eugene was shot and wounded critically by Terry Sunday.

Moroccan King, Ike Planning Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morocco's King Mohammed V flies here today to start a 19-day state tour that includes two long talks with President Eisenhower and a first-hand look at the U. S. heartland.

During the next three days, the Moroccan King and an entourage of 17 persons including his ranking Cabinet members will discuss with American officials a series of matters including U.S. military and economic aid, U.S. bases in Morocco and France's bitter dispute with Algeria.

U. S. officials would like to see France take up an offer by Tunisia and Morocco to mediate the Franco-Algerian rebel fight. But there is no intention here at the moment to pressure, or even advise, the French government along this line.

Mohammed V comes here almost directly from talks at his capital, Rabat, with President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, another pro-Western Arab leader. The United States and Britain recently supplied a small quantity of arms to Bourguiba in the face of angry French protests.

*

MOHAMMED and Bourguiba agreed in their talks to try to mediate between France and the Algerian rebels. This offer was almost immediately rejected by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. But it has caused a political split in the Radical Socialist party of French Premier Felix Gaillard.

Gaillard contended it would be unwise to accept the mediation offer without much more information. Despite this, the Radical Socialist conference at Strasbourg urged the Gaillard administration to "take the initiative for negotiation with Tunisia and Morocco" in order to try to work out ways for settling the bloody and costly Algerian uprising.

Three other issues of importance are expected to arise before the King ends his visit with the President next Thursday morning and flies to Williamsburg, Va., to begin a national tour. These issues are:

1. Economic aid — Mohammed reportedly wants the United States to boost the $20 million annual total of U. S. assistance.

2. U. S. Bases — The Air Force has four bases in Morocco and the Navy has one. Mohammed opened negotiations with the United States several months ago on new agreements.

3. Military Aid—Mohammed has an army of around 38,000 troops which has been equipped by France. He may bring up the issue of getting guns and ammunition from the United States.

Independent Role By Princess Riles British Monarchy

LONDON (AP)—A London newspaper says displays of independence by Princess Margaret are causing a stir in Buckingham Palace.

The Sunday Express reported that Margaret is determined "to establish that not only is she a princess but a woman of personality in her own right."

The newspaper said the princess shocked Queen Elizabeth II by going out on the town last Wednesday instead of staying at the palace to celebrate the 10th wedding anniversary of the Queen and Prince Philip. Other close relatives attended the palace party.

Margaret was invited but changed her mind at the last minute, the Express said. Instead, the Queen's vivacious 27-year-old sister went to the theater with friends and then dined at the fashionable Savoy Hotel.

She showed up at the palace just before the party ended.

TOKYO (AP)—A Welfare Ministry official said today 499 persons have died of influenza now sweeping Japan for the second time.

Nixon Says Red Goal Is Plain

World Domination Said Sought, Even with War

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the latest Communist party peace manifesto means that the Russians "have reaffirmed their ultimate goal of world domination by nonmilitary means if possible, by war if necessary."

Nixon spoke Sunday night at the closing session of the fourth convention of the National Council of Catholic Youth. He called the Communist statement, published three days ago by the Communist parties of 64 nations, the "Khrushchev Manifesto."

The manifesto called on the nations of the world to stop the arms race, ban nuclear weapons and abandon military blocs. It promised that "we will free the world from the danger of war, death and destruction."

Nixon said it would be foolhardy to brush aside the statement. He declared:

"Because this document warns us in advance, at a time when we are thinking primarily of defending ourselves against the increased military potential the Soviet Union will have in the future, that the men in the Kremlin are launching right now a massive nonmilitary offensive aimed at the overthrow of all free governments.

* * *

"HERE ARE some of the actions we can expect as a result of the adoption of the Khrushchev Manifesto:

"The dictators of Moscow will sharply step up their economic, psychological and subversive activities all over the world.

"They will emphasize again the popular front tactics which fooled so many well-intentioned people in times past.

"Ruthless control and domination of Communist governments and Communist parties everywhere by the men in the Kremlin will again be the order of the day."

California Forest Fire Fighters Gaining Control

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fire fighters reported today that they were making steady progress in efforts to control the 25,000-acre San Gabriel Mountains forest fire.

The wind died during the night and the humidity rose, conditions which greatly aided the fire-fighting force of 1,400 men working along a 55-mile perimeter of the huge fire burning in almost inaccessible terrain.

The U. S. Forest Service said the fire has destroyed $25 million worth of watershed.

H-Bomb Maker Says Red ICBM Can Hit Texas

Senate Probers Hear Solemn Testimony on American Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller, the scientist said to be the father of the hydrogen bomb, said today that if both countries maintain their present pace of missile development "there is no doubt that Russia will leave us behind—and way behind."

And already, he said, he believes the Soviets have "or will have in a short time" the ability to hit major industrial centers in this country, with an intercontinental ballistic missile. Specifically, he said he believed the Russians could hit such a distant target as Houston, Tex.

Teller, an expert on nuclear weapons, was the opening witness in a broad Senate inquiry into the U. S. missile program.

Among the major points of his testimony:

1. Russia has been able to make such tremendous advances because of willingness to take risks, to gamble in untried fields where there was no certainty the money spent would bring concrete results.

2. In 1946 the United States could have decided to proceed with missile development at top speed, but at that time there was extreme doubt that an effective long range missile could be developed.

* * *

IT WAS "years later," Teller said, before the value of such a missile could be demonstrated. He said when this became clear "quite a bit of energy" was put into the program. Since then, "the work has been excellently managed, but it came too late."

3. He does not believe the Russians have caught up with the United States in nuclear weapons, but in bombers, radar and other

Jordan's Rap At U. N. Aide Slowing Talks

JERUSALEM (AP)—A Jordanian demand for the removal of a U.S. officer serving as U. N. truce observer today threatened a breakdown in the mediation of disputes along the Jordan-Israeli border.

As new frontier clashes were reported, Jordan announced that it no longer would accept the truce recommendations of U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary.

But a U. N. spokesman said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold immediately told the Amman government that Leary "continues to enjoy his full personal confidence."

Jordan's demand for Leary's removal apparently was prompted by the officer's mediation efforts in an Israeli convoy incident last week which touched off a series of border clashes.

Jordan charged the Israelis violated the armistice agreement by sending a convoy with highly flammable benzine to a hospital in the Mt. Scopus demilitarized area within Arab Jerusalem.

Israel then asked to negotiate with Jordan, citing a section of the armistice agreement applying to the movement of traffic on Bethlehem-Jordan roads.

Leary relayed the request. Jordan rejected it.

The Arab government's repudiation of Leary as a truce observer was accompanied by an announcement that Jordan will take the convoy matter to the U. N. Security Council.

Prisoner Persistent In Suicide Efforts

COLUMBUS (AP)—Jack Heise, 26, of Columbus, persistently tried to kill himself in Franklin County jail here Sunday night.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Heise, held for burglary, shattered a bulb outside his cell, then began cutting his arms and wrists with the glass fragments.

Taken from his cell, he later thrust his arm through a closed window, the officers added. He is now in a hospital under guard.

Home Delivery Extraordinary!

There's more than one way to get a pheasant for Sunday dinner— for instance, by picking it up off the living room floor of your home like Orville (Jake) Plymire did.

Plymire stood by the window of his home on the Palmer Rd. about 4 miles west of Washington C. H. Saturday afternoon, watching some hunters moving across a field on the Loren Hynes farm about 500 yards away.

When he saw a frightened pheasant take wing ahead of the hunters, he was only curiously interested— even when it kept flying straight for his house.

Suddenly, there was a crash and a tinkling of shattered glass. Plymire had time only to duck his head.

He looked up just in time to see the big cock pheasant bounce off the davenport and drop in the middle of the living room floor. The big bird was dazed after crashing through the glass of both storm window and regular window; so, Plymire administered the coup de grace.

And, the Plymires had pheasant for dinner.

Another Trial Is Ordered in Robbery-Slaying

Appellate Court Reverses Conviction On Judge's Errors

CANTON (AP)—The Fifth District Court of Appeals today reversed the first-degree murder conviction of Harry Dale Bundy, 40, of Zanesville, and ordered a new trial because of the trial judge's errors.

Bundy was convicted in a Stark County common pleas court jury last June 22 in the slaying of Reynold Amodio, 30, who was shot during a robbery of the County Line Market at nearby Uniontown Nov. 23, 1956.

He was implicated in the robbery-slaying by Russell McCoy, 22, also of Zanesville, who admitted in testimony at Bundy's trial that he (McCoy) killed Paul Cain, 35, a clerk in the store, after Bundy killed Amodio.

The jury failed to recommend mercy for Bundy, making the death penalty mandatory. He is in Ohio Penitentiary.

Prosecutor Norman J. Putman said the ruling by the appellate court would be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court.

THE COURT of Appeals vote was 2 to 1. Judge Robert Putnam of Millersburg wrote the majority opinion, with Judge D. Deane McLaughlin of Massillon concurring. Presiding Judge C. B. McClintock of Canton dissented.

The majority opinion held that Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti, who presided at Bundy's trial, erred in instructing the jury on "aiding and abetting" because the issue was not raised in the indictment against Bundy and also in his instructions to the jurors that it made no difference whether Bundy or McCoy fired the fatal shot.

The opinion also held that the lower court erred and abused its discretion in not granting Bundy a new trial on grounds of newly discovered evidence.

Other than McCoy, only one witness (a 14-year-old girl) testified at Bundy's trial of seeing him at the County Line Market on the night of the double slaying. The defense, in asking for a new trial, produced new witnesses to refute the girl's testimony.

In this connection, Judge McClintock held that testimony offered by the defense was all cumulative to Bundy's claim of an alibi. He pointed out that the new witnesses were from the Canton vicinity and accessible to the defense at the trial.

Pope Says Doctor May Halt Artificial Respiration Effort

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII says a doctor may halt artificial respiration if the patient's family desires.

The pontiff said Sunday the family might feel the attempt at reanimation "constitutes for the family a burden which in conscience they cannot accept."

This would not be mercy killing, "which would never be legitimate," the pope said.

"The technique of reanimation is not in iteself immoral because the patient, if capable of personal decision, could give the doctor authorization," the pope said. "On the other hand, since this form of treatment goes beyond ordinary methods, one cannot maintain that it would be obligatory."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The rocket satellite that hurled Sputnik I into the air may be seen twice in most parts of the United States tonight.

Moving in a northwest to southeast direction, the rocket is scheduled to make a passage over Columbus, Ohio, about 6:13 p.m. EST.

The rocket is expected to be about 240 miles high.

Arrow Carries Extortion Note

WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—Police said today they suspect juveniles are involved in an unusual extortion attempt.

A steel-tipped arrow with a crudely printed note attached was fired into the shingles of the home of the Henry M. Viau family Sunday. The note read:

"Don't call the police if you don't want to get hurt. Leave 10 dollars at your front door by 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

"P.S.—Leave the money in an anllope (sic). No change please. We are desprate (sic) so no funny tricks."

$40 Billion Fund For Arms OKd

Ike's Tentative Nod Said Given to Outlay

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tribune said today that President Eisenhower has tentatively approved a Pentagon request for new funds totaling more than 40 billion dollars for the 1959 fiscal beginning next July 1.

The Tribune, in a dispatch from Washington, quoted Pentagon sources for the information. It said the new total is approximately 4 billion dollars more than was appropriated by Congress for this year.

Tribune staff writer Lloyd Norman said:

"With defense budget makers working late hours rushing the final draft of the Pentagon's money requirements and spending plans for the 1959 fiscal year, usually well informed officials told a reporter that military spending would climb to approximately 39 billion dollars.

"This is less than the cash outlay request because not all the new fupds are spent in the same year but are spread over several years on constructions and production contracts."

The story further said that latest estimates for military spending in the current fiscal year total $38,700,000,000 — 700 million above the original Eisenhower ceiling of 38 billion. This ceiling was officially eased last month by 400 million dollars and will be relaxed by another 300 million dollars for the second half of the fiscal year.

"Despite economy cuts in military operations," the Tribune said, ... "spending keeps creeping higher because of the speedup in missile production schedules and rising costs."

"Seasoned forecasters at the Pentagon were willing to bet that spending, spurred by Russian rocket successes, would probably go to 39 billion dollars or higher.

"Such a spending rate would virtually eliminate the chances for a tax cut next year and even threaten a balanced budget, especially if business activity continues to decline, they said."

Southern Texas Gets Heavy Snow

DALLAS (AP)—A snow called the heaviest in 30 years struck deep into western and southern Texas over the weekend, stalling traffic, spreading beneficial moisture and giving the kids a thrill.

A record 14 inches of snow paralyzed Concho County in lower west central Texas Sunday. An estimated 300 motorists were stranded, jamming cafes and the two hotels in Eden.

The tomato crop around Laredo was ruined and the chill weather nipped at winter vegetables in the lush lower Rio Grande Valley.

Imitating Television Cowboy Injures Boy, 11

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eugene Keller, 11, was just imitating the cowboys he saw on television when he started a game with a friend to see which boy could draw a revolver quickest.

But Eugene and his friend, Terry Harter, 17, did not know the .22 caliber revolver was loaded, investigators said. As a result, Eugene was shot and wounded critically by Terry Sunday.

Moroccan King, Ike Planning Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morocco's King Mohammed V flies here today to start a 19-day state tour that includes two long talks with President Eisenhower and a first-hand look at the U. S. heartland.

During the next three days, the Moroccan King and an entourage of 17 persons including his ranking Cabinet members will discuss with American officials a series of matters including U.S. military and economic aid, U.S. bases in Morocco and France's bitter dispute with Algeria.

U. S. officials would like to see France take up an offer by Tunisia and Morocco to mediate the Franco-Algerian rebel fight. But there is no intention here at the moment to pressure, or even advise, the French government along this line.

Mohammed V comes here almost directly from talks at his capital, Rabat, with President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, another pro-Western Arab leader. The United States and Britain recently supplied a small quantity of arms to Bourguiba in the face of angry French protests.

• •

MOHAMMED and Bourguiba agreed in their talks to try to mediate between France and the Algerian rebels. This offer was almost immediately rejected by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. But it has caused a political split in the Radical Socialist party of French Premier Felix Gaillard.

Gaillard contended it would be unwise to accept the mediation offer without much more information. Despite this, the Radical Socialist conference at Strasbourg urged the Gaillard administration to "take the initiative for negotiation with Tunisia and Morocco" in order to try to work out ways for settling the bloody and costly Algerian uprising.

Three other issues of importance are expected to arise before the King ends his visit with the President next Thursday morning and flies to Williamsburg, Va., to begin a national tour. These issues are:

1. Economic aid — Mohammed reportedly wants the United States to boost the $20 million annual total of U. S. assistance.

2. U. S. Bases — The Air Force has four bases in Morocco and the Navy has one. Mohammed opened negotiations with the United States several months ago on new agreements.

3. Military Aid—Mohammed has an army of around 38,000 troops which has been equipped by France. He may bring up the issue of getting guns and ammunition from the United States.

Nixon Says Red Goal Is Plain

World Domination Said Sought, Even with War

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the latest Communist party peace manifesto means that the Russians "have reaffirmed their ultimate goal of world domination by nonmilitary means if possible, by war if necessary."

Nixon spoke Sunday night at the closing session of the fourth convention of the National Council of Catholic Youth. He called the Communist statement, published three days ago by the Communist parties of 64 nations, the "Khrushchev Manifesto."

The manifesto called on the nations of the world to stop the arms race, ban nuclear weapons and abandon military blocs. It promised that "we will free the world from the danger of war, death and destruction."

Nixon said it would be foolhardy to brush aside the statement. He declared:

"Because this document warns us in advance, at a time when we are thinking primarily of defending ourselves against the increased military potential the Soviet Union will have in the future, that the men in the Kremlin are launching right now a massive nonmilitary offensive aimed at the overthrow of all free governments.

• • •

"HERE ARE some of the actions we can expect as a result of the adoption of the Khrushchev Manifesto:

"The dictators of Moscow will sharply step up their economic, psychological and subversive activities all over the world.

"They will emphasize again the popular front tactics which fooled so many well-intentioned people in times past.

"Ruthless control and domination of Communist governments and Communist parties everywhere by the men in the Kremlin will again be the order of the day."

California Forest Fire Fighters Gaining Control

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fire fighters reported today that they were making steady progress in efforts to control the 25,000-acre San Gabriel Mountains forest fire.

The wind died during the night and the humidity rose, conditions which greatly aided the fire-fighting force of 1,400 men working along a 55-mile perimeter of the huge fire burning in almost inaccessible terrain.

The U. S. Forest Service said the fire has destroyed $25 million worth of watershed.

Independent Role By Princess Riles British Monarchy

LONDON (AP)—A London newspaper says displays of independence by Princess Margaret are causing a stir in Buckingham Palace.

The Sunday Express reported that Margaret is determined "to establish that not only is she a princess but a woman of personality in her own right."

The newspaper said the princess shocked Queen Elizabeth II by going out on the town last Wednesday instead of staying at the palace to celebrate the 10th wedding anniversary of the Queen and Prince Philip. Other close relatives attended the palace party.

Margaret was invited but changed her mind at the last minute, the Express said. Instead, the Queen's vivacious 27-year-old sister went to the theater with friends and then dined at the fashionable Savoy Hotel.

She showed up at the palace just before the party ended.

Japan Counts 499 Dead

Home Delivery Extraordinary!

There's more than one way to get a pheasant for Sunday dinner— for instance, by picking it up off the living room floor of your home like Orville (Jake) Plymire did.

Plymire stood by the window of his home on the Palmer Rd. about 4 miles west of Washington C. H. Saturday afternoon, watching some hunters moving across a field on the Loren Hynes farm about 500 yards away.

When he saw a frightened pheasant take wing ahead of the hunters, he was only curiously interested— even when it kept flying straight for his house.

Suddenly, there was a crash and a tinkling of shattered glass. Plymire had time only to duck his head.

He looked up just in time to see the big cock pheasant bounce off the davenport and drop in the middle of the living room floor. The big bird was dazed after crashing through the glass of both storm window and regular window; so, Plymire administered the coup de grace.

And, the Plymires had pheasant for dinner.

H-Bomb Maker Says Red ICBM Can Hit Texas

Senate Probers Hear Solemn Testimony on American Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller, the scientist said to be the father of the hydrogen bomb, said today that if both countries maintain their present pace of missile development "there is no doubt that Russia will leave us behind—and way behind."

And already, he said, he believes the Soviets have "or will have in a short time" the ability to hit major industrial centers in this country with an intercontinental ballistic missile. Specifically, he said he believed the Russians could hit such a distant target as Houston, Tex.

Teller, an expert on nuclear weapons, was the opening witness in a broad Senate inquiry into the U. S. missile program.

Among the major points of his testimony:

1. Russia has been able to make such tremendous advances because of willingness to take risks, to gamble in untried fields where there was no certainty the money spent would bring concrete results.

2. In 1946 the United States could have decided to proceed with missile development at top speed, but at that time there was extreme doubt that an effective long range missile could be developed.

• • •

IT WAS "years later," Teller said, before the value of such a missile could be demonstrated. He said when this became clear "quite a bit of energy" was put into the program. Since then, "the work has been excellently managed, but it came too late."

3. He does not believe the Russians have caught up with the United States in nuclear weapons, but in bombers, radar and other

Jordan's Rap At U. N. Aide Slowing Talks

JERUSALEM (AP)—A Jordanian demand for the removal of a U.S. officer serving as U. N. truce observer today threatened a breakdown in the mediation of disputes along the Jordan-Israeli border.

As new frontier clashes were reported, Jordan announced that it no longer would accept the truce recommendations of U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary.

But a U. N. spokesman said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold immediately told the Amman government that Leary "continues to enjoy his full personal confidence."

Jordan's demand for Leary's removal apparently was prompted by the officer's mediation efforts in an Israeli convoy incident last week which touched off a series of border clashes.

Jordan charged the Israelis violated the armistice agreement by sending a convoy with highly flammable benzine to a hospital in the Mt. Scopus demilitarized area within Arab Jerusalem.

Israel then asked to negotiate with Jordan, citing a section of the armistice agreement applying to the movement of traffic on Bethlehem-Jordan roads.

Leary relayed the request. Jordan rejected it.

The Arab government's repudiation of Leary as a truce observer was accompanied by an announcement that Jordan will take the convoy matter to the U. N. Security Council.

Prisoner Persistent In Suicide Efforts

COLUMBUS (AP)—Jack Heise, 26, of Columbus, persistently tried to kill himself in Franklin County jail here Sunday night.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Heise, held for burglary, shattered a bulb outside his cell, then began cutting his arms and wrists with the glass fragments.

Taken from his cell, he later thrust his arm through a closed window, the officers added. He is now in a hospital under guard.

New Mental Health Unit Tells Goals

CINCINNATI (AP) — The newly-formed Ohio Mental Health Federation aims to establish branches soon in all parts of the state.

That's the report Sunday night by Dr. John A. MacLeod of Cincinnati, an adviser to the new group formed last year after a schism developed in the old Ohio Mental Health Assn.

Dr. MacLeod said, "Our aim is not to compete with the OMHA but to offer the best program we can for the mentally ill in Ohio."

The federation was accepted for membership in the National Assn. for Mental Health last Saturday at a meeting in Atlantic City. The national group dropped the old Ohio association last year for not meeting standards.

The Cincinnati psychiatrist said the break from the association came when "our feeling was that the association was not following the program of the national association."

Dr. MacLeod said that branches of the federation, in addition to Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland groups, have been set up at Hamilton, Akron and Gallipolis.

He said that the problem of whether federation branches can be included in local United Appeal drives has not been settled.

Dr. MacLeod said there is plenty of mental health work in Ohio, even for two state groups.

He said the aims of the federation include organizing groups in cities to aid nearby mental hospitals, promoting education in mental health, seeking support for mental health projects in the Legislature and encouraging contributions for research.

When they stopped the boat, Fails suddenly made a horrible discovery—he had left his fishing tackle at home.

Controversial Mexican Art Leader Dies

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Diego Rivera, whose violent paintings and defiant politics made him a charging bull in the world of art, died of a heart attack today in his studio in San Angel. He was 70.

Until phlebitis paralyzed his right hand and arm several weeks ago, he was working on three paintings with the zest which characterized his work for half a century.

Only members of his family and his physician were present when he died. He is survived by his fourth wife, Ama, and two daughters, Ruth and Guadalupe.

Rivera had been in and out of the Communist party since 1922. He returned only last year from Russia and proclaimed that Soviet medicine had cured him of cancer.

From his earliest days Rivera expressed defiance in his controversial paintings. At times he wore a pistol while he worked in public.

One of the last major controversies which he stirred was in 1950, when he completed a painting which the Mexican government had commissioned for an exhibition in Europe. Government officials were appalled when they learned that the painting showed U. S. soldiers committing atrocities in Korea. The work was withdrawn from the art show.

Russian Missile

developments the Russians "apparently know as much as we do."

4. In his opinion, there are "many places" where additional money could bring speedier results in U. S. programs.

5. The U. S. program for the development of missiles and other scientific needs can be accelerated by closer cooperation among the armed services, among companies working on the missile programs and companies which could be brought into the program, and by cooperation and sharing of secrets not only with Great Britain but with other NATO countries and with other allies.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, chairman of the Preparedness subcommittee conducting the hearings, said in his opening statement that the United States has "lost an important battle of technology" to the Soviets.

But, he declared, the "lost battle" represented by Russia's launching of two satellites is "not a defeat—it is a challenge."

* * *

AFTER TELLER had described to the subcommittee the conclusions he drew from the launching of the second Russian satellite, he was asked by counsel Edwin L. Weisl:

"Then you believe Russia now has an intercontinental ballistic missile?"

"I certainly cannot say with complete certainty," Teller replied. "There is every reason to believe they have it, at least at the stage that they have constructed it and tested it.

"To what extent they have operational capability, I do not know. I certainly hope they do not."

Weisl then quoted Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, head of the radiation laboratory at the University of California where Teller works as a physicist, as saying last week he believed the Russians could hit Houston with ICBM.

"Do you believe that, too?" the counsel asked.

"Yes, sir," said Teller. But he added he wanted to make clear he did not think of Houston as "a pinpoint."

Teller, bushy-browed and serious in appearance, was the first witness before the subcommittee.

He has said the U. S. "had better do something quickly" in getting abreast of Russia in missile development.

Teller told a television audience Sunday the United States has lagged behind Russia in science and thus has lost "a battle more important and greater than Pearl Harbor."

* * *

HE DID NOT directly speak of missiles in the general discussion program, but said this country is in a "very sad an ddangerous" situation now and that rebuilding U. S. prestige in science "will be a long and hard struggle." He called among other things for more recognition for scientists.

Johnson said his Senate group later will hear secret testimony from Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency; Secretary of Defense McElroy; Undersecretary Donald Quarles; and William Holaday, who heads the department's missile programs.

Two subcommittee members, Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Stennis (D-Miss) said they hope the hearings will clear up what they call a division of authority between Holaday and Dr. James R. Killian, whom President Eisenhower has named as a special assistant to coordinate scientific development.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), another subcommittee member, said the investigation may show that the nation is trying to develop too many missiles at once rather than concentrating on a few.

Last Laugh Is Best, First Prize Results

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Five years ago Sydney Mendelsohn ordered some fruit trees from an Illinois firm later convicted of mail fraud.

He got five trees right away—all about eight inches tall—marked plum, apricot, pear, cherry and apple. The plum seedling didn't grown and the apple tree was barren.

But Mendelsohn figures he got the last laugh.

His 9-year-old son took some peaches from what was supposed to be the apricot tree the other day—and won first prize at the Montgomery County fair.

New Mental Health Unit Tells Goals

CINCINNATI (AP) — The newly-formed Ohio Mental Health Federation aims to establish branches soon in all parts of the state.

That's the report Sunday night by Dr. John A. MacLeod of Cincinnati, an adviser to the new group formed last year after a schism developed in the old Ohio Mental Health Assn.

Dr. MacLeod said, "Our aim is not to compete with the OMHA but to offer the best program we can for the mentally ill in Ohio."

The federation was accepted for membership in the National Assn. for Mental Health last Saturday at a meeting in Atlantic City. The national group dropped the old Ohio association last year for not meeting standards.

The Cincinnati psychiatrist said the break from the association came when "our feeling was that the association was not following the program of the national association."

Dr. MacLeod said that branches of the federation, in addition to Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland groups, have been set up at Hamilton, Akron and Gallipolis.

He said that the problem of whether federation branches can be included in local United Appeal drives has not been settled.

Dr. MacLeod said there is plenty of mental health work in Ohio, even for two state groups.

He said the aims of the federation include organizing groups in cities to aid nearby mental hospitals, promoting education in mental health, seeking support for mental health projects in the Legislature and encouraging contributions for research.

Only Tackle Was Lacking

When they stopped the boat, Fails suddenly made a horrible discovery—he had left his fishing tackle at home.

Controversial Mexican Art Leader Dies

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Diego Rivera, whose violent paintings and defiant politics made him a charging bull in the world of art, died of a heart attack today in his studio in San Angel. He was 70.

Until phlebitis paralyzed his right hand and arm several weeks ago, he was working on three paintings with the zest which characterized his work for half a century.

Only members of his family and his physician were present when he died. He is survived by his fourth wife, Ama, and two daughters, Ruth and Guadalupe.

Rivera had been in and out of the Communist party since 1922. He returned only last year from Russia and proclaimed that Soviet medicine had cured him of cancer.

From his earliest days Rivera expressed defiance in his controversial paintings. At times he wore a pistol while he worked in public.

One of the last major controversies which he stirred was in 1950, when he completed a painting which the Mexican government had commissioned for an exhibition in Europe. Government officials were appalled when they learned that the painting showed U. S. soldiers committing atrocities in Korea. The work was withdrawn from the art show.

Russian Missile

developments the Russians "apparently know as much as we do."

4. In his opinion, there are "many places" where additional money could bring speedier results in U. S. programs.

5. The U. S. program for the development of missiles and other scientific needs can be accelerated by closer cooperation among the armed services, among companies working on the missile programs and companies which could be brought into the program, and by cooperation and sharing of secrets not only with Great Britain but with other NATO countries and with other allies.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, chairman of the Preparedness subcommittee conducting the hearings, said in his opening statement that the United States has "lost an important battle of technology" to the Soviets.

But, he declared, the "lost battle" represented by Russia's launching of two satellites is "not a defeat—it is a challenge."

* * *

AFTER TELLER had described to the subcommittee the conclusions he drew from the launching of the second Russian satellite, he was asked by counsel Edwin L. Weisl:

"Then you believe Russia now has an intercontinental ballistic missile?"

"I certainly cannot say with complete certainty," Teller replied. "There is every reason to believe they have it, at least at the stage that they have constructed it and tested it.

"To what extent they have operational capability, I do not know. I certainly hope they do not."

Weisl then quoted Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, head of the radiation laboratory at the University of California where Teller works as a physicist, as saying last week he believed the Russians could hit Houston with ICBM.

"Do you believe that, too?" the counsel asked.

"Yes, sir," said Teller. But he added he wanted to make clear he did not think of Houston as "a pinpoint."

Teller, bushy-browed and serious in appearance, was the first witness before the subcommittee.

He has said the U. S. "had better do something quickly" in getting abreast of Russia in missile development.

Teller told a television audience Sunday the United States has lagged behind Russia in science and thus has lost "a battle more important and greater than Pearl Harbor."

* * *

HE DID NOT directly speak of missiles in the general discussion program, but said this country is in a "very sad an ddangerous" situation now and that rebuilding U. S. prestige in science "will be a long and hard struggle." He called among other things for more recognition for scientists.

Johnson said his Senate group later will hear secret testimony from Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency; Secretary of Defense McElroy; Undersecretary Donald Quarles; and William Holaday, who heads the department's missile programs.

Two subcommittee members, Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Stennis (D-Miss) said they hope the hearings will clear up what they call a division of authority between Holaday and Dr. James R. Killian, whom President Eisenhower has named as a special assistant to coordinate scientific development.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), another subcommittee member, said the investigation may show that the nation is trying to develop too many missiles at once rather than concentrating on a few.

Last Laugh Is Best, First Prize Results

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Five years ago Sydney Mendelsohn ordered some fruit trees from an Illinois firm later convicted of mail fraud.

He got five trees right away—all about eight inches tall—marked plum, apricot, pear, cherry and apple. The plum seedling didn't grown and the apple tree was barren.

But Mendelsohn figures he got the last laugh.

His 9-year-old son took some peaches from what was supposed to be the apricot tree the other day—and won first prize at the Montgomery County fair.

Opinions On Government Controls In Farming

It is quite natural for the farmers of our country to be highly interested in most things that are being said about the extent to which the federal government intervenes in agricultural matters.

It is a subject which has undergone long debate. Even in our own Fayette County there is considerable disagreement among agriculturalists over some of the angles.

The November Survey, published by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, has summarized some of the results of what it thinks the government has done in declaring, "When the United State Government undertook to determine what were 'fair' prices for farm products and to insure that such prices were actually received by farmers, the unintended effects were overproduction, underconsumption, the loss of foreign markets, the use of substitutes, the accumulation of surpluses, a governmental 'dumping' program that involved heavy losses and aroused foreign resentment, and a level of farm prices that was certainly unsatisfactory to farmers."

No one disputes these facts. However, The Guarantee Survey goes on to say that federally-support farm prices are "probably lower than would have prevailed in free markets." Whether this is true or not, the voting record of farmers and their representatives in Washington shows that rural America is convinced that Government subsidies, in one form or another, are essential to farm prosperity.

About eight years ago Secretary of Agriculture Brannan proposed that the government refrain from buying up huge quantities of foods and fibers. He suggested that meat, poultry, dairy products, bread, cotton, and tobacco be allowed to sell at prices resulting from the free interplay of supply and demand, and that Washington reimburse farmers for the difference between what they got on the open market and what they get under 90 per cent of parity. The assumption was that retail prices would drop sharply.

Many farmers and others believe that a return to an unregulated farm enterprise would be disastrous, not only to the agricultural economy but to the national economy as well. However, even after years of writing and rewriting federal control and subsidy laws, no way has been found for insuring farm stability. And the taxpayer is paying dearly for the experimenting and changing laws which govern it.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson is casting about for means of preserving the economic health of the nation's farmers without drawing heavily on the U. S. Treasury. He dislikes federal regulation of farm operations.

However, many farmers believe there seems little choice in the matter. Even if a free market for agricultural produce were established, in accordance with the Brannan plan, the government would still have to supervise agricultural production, many assert whenever the government supervises any kind of economic activity, it costs taxpayers money.

Diet and Health — Cystic Fibrosis Still Is Threat to Children

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Probably very few of you have ever heard of cystic fibrosis. Yet this disease, a grave one for children, is more common than multiple sclerosis and muscular dystrophy. And I'm sure most of you have heard of them.

Cystic fibrosis is a congential, hereditary disease of children whose respiratory tracts are blocked by abnormal secretions of mucus. This leads to obstruction, infection and, too often, death.

The lungs, the pancrease, the salivary glands and the sweat glands are involved. About one youngster in every 600 is affected. Unfortunately, half of the victims did not heretofore survive past the age of five.

However, with our recent medical advances, it is now possible for persons who fall victim to cystic fibrosis in infancy to reach their teens and in some cases, their twenties.

Despite continued doses of antibiotics to control pulmonary infection, cystic fibrosis remains a daily threat to all who have it. In fact, one expert on the disease makes the grim statement that for 80 per cent of all young victims of the disease, "the prognosis is grave."

Currently, the treatment being used for C.F. children (as we call young victims) is continued use of antibiotics both by mouth and by inhalation therapy. This helps prevent and control lung infections.

As a substitute for blocked digestive enzymes, pancreas replacement products are needed. Special water - soluble vitamins and high protein foods also are given.

Cystic fibrosis is transmitted to offspring by a recessive gene which both parents must have. In most families of such parents, one out of four children is affected. In some, however, the incidence rate may run as high as four or five out of five children.

Cystic fibrosis is not detected quite as often as it should be. One of the reasons is that symptoms are similar to other conditions, such as asthma and bronchitis.

Most common symptoms are chronic cough, repeated pneumonia, bulky diarrhea and a tremendous appetite, but little gain in weight.

Cystic fibrosis presents a serious threat to many of our children. We're working on a solution to this grave problem; but unfortunately, as yet we don't have it.

Food, Drug Administration's Functions Told by Chieftain

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, George P. Larrick, is commissioner of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

By GEORGE P. LARRICK
(For Jane Eads)

Two questions frequently asked us are: "Just how good is the American food and drug supply?" "What can consumers do to help the Food and Drug Administration in its job of protecting the public?"

These questions are related. The foods, drugs and cosmetics used by the American people are the best that any nation has ever enjoyed in all history. The food, drug and cosmetic industries are working harder than ever to make further improvements in products, packaging and distribution. Changes are going on all the time. This is progress.

But progress also has a way of creating all sorts of new problems. More followup investigation must be done on the potent new drugs that are being released for sale today. There are more steps in processing today's ready - to-heat-and-eat food products—which means more work for FDA inspectors. There is an increasing use of food additives—small amounts of chemicals which help to keep foods crisp or prevent them from drying out, or becoming rancid or mouldy, or which improve the appearance or the flavor.

This, too, is progress, but a law is needed which will require these materials to be thoroughly tested or their safety before they are tried out on the public. We also need more scientists to research these new materials and problems which affect the public health and pocketbook. And, of course, we always have that minority group of careless and criminal operators who keep us busy with law enforcement activities.

Congress is helping us in two ways—it is supporting an expansion program with increased appropriations and considering amendments to the law to take care of the chemical additive problem.

Consumers can help, too, by taking an active interest in local, state and federal food and drug laws and their enforcement.

Irving Berlin--Still in One Key

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty years ago a young Bowery singing waiter wrote the words for a song called "Marie From Sunny Italy," and it earned him 37 cents.

Today, more than 1,000 songs later, Irving Berlin, whose golden anniversary in show business is being widely celebrated, is believed to have made more money out of music than any other man in history.

Just how much this self-taught genius of song has amassed is a favorite topic of Broadway conjecture. But it is known that as of last June 30 the tunes and shows he has donated to different charities had raised $10,079,768. Not a bad donation from a boy who once sang for pennies!

One of his tunes, "White Christmas," sold 23 million records. More than 250 new recordings of his songs have been made in the last few months alone.

The world enjoys his music, but knows little of Irving Berlin, the man. He will be 70 next May 11. What is he like—this brooding, solitary figure who, after all these years, can still play a piano in only one key—F sharp?

Few men are heroes to their valets, but Berlin remains very much of a personal hero to Helmy Kresa, 53, his arranger.

Kresa, a former student at the Dresden Conservatory in Germany, wanted to be a conductor. But he started as a copyist for Berlin in 1925, became his arranger in 1927, and has stayed with him ever since.

"Irving is the most prolific song writer who ever lived," he said, "and he is as interested in his work now as ever.

"Weeks may go by without his turning out a single tune, and then he will write 10 in a row.

"He requires no special atmosphere to create. He writes any place—wherever he is — in an airplane, a car, at a desk, or walking. He concentrates night and day on his songs.

"He works well under pressure. He composes mostly in his head, then plays it later on the piano. Sometimes, when he has finished a new song, he will phone me and sing it to me and I write it down. I am the musical stenographer.

"He is a very warm man, and doesn't like ostentation. He doesn't like insincerity. He can see through human nature at a glance, and can spot a phoney on sight.

"He doesn't get mad very often, and is tolerant of forms of music he doesn't care for himself, such as rock 'n' roll.

"What is his favorite of all the songs he has written? Although he says he has no favorites, I would say the one closest to his heart is 'God Bless America.'"

The Price of Fear

By George Sokolsky

For 40 years, Soviet Russia has been living in fear. It all started during the very earliest days of the revolution when the soldiers were throwing away their rifles and going home to their villages.

The Czarist officers and cadets had organized themselves into White guards to distinguish them from the Reds.

Gen. Kornilov, who had really paved the way for the Bolsheviks by scaring everybody, passed from the scent. However, in the south, Gen. Denikin had started a counter-revolution; in the east, Admrl. Kolchak had founded an anti-Bolshevik government; behind him stood the Cossack Ataman Semenov with his wild Mongol hordes.

The Bolsheviks could not know where the attack would come from. At Chita, for instance, was a grand encampment of self-governing Czechs who might have established a government of their own in any area they chose in the Lake Baikal region.

It was expected that British, French and American troops would march through Russia and reestablish the second front against the Kaiser.

The first task of the Bolshevik government was to make peace with the Germans. For this purpose, negotiations were established at Brest-Liktovsk. It is curious how history is affected decisively and finally by the attitude of single individuals. Trotzky, I am convinced, favored continuing the war against Germany if the allies would then and there recognize the Bolsheviks as the legitimate successors of the Kerensky regime and would provide the Bolsheviks such aid as Kerensky received.

I know that these views were presented to several of the many conflicting Americans who were in Petrograd in those days. Sir George Buchanan, the British ambassador, was opposed to dealing with the Reds.

Our ambassador, David Francis, was not a man of strong opinions except that he hated Raymond Robins, the Red Cross man, and Edgar Sisson, George Creel's man and Arthur Bullard, who was, I believe Col. House's representative.

An incident occurred about this time, the general outlines of which are clear in my memory although some of the details may be wrong.

The plan was to kidnap Ambassador Francis and to hold him hostage until big Bill Haywood was let out of prison in the United States.

The idea was to show the world a picture of proletarian solidarity. I heard of this plot in my rounds as a reporter. I repeated it to Trotzky, pointing out that if anyone kidnaped the American ambassador, for whatever reason, it would justify intervention.

Trotzky stationed a tank and troops in front of the American embassy to safeguard Francis and if my memory serves me, he called on Francis. That was a rare moment when an understanding might have been reached. The Bolshevik policy of antagonism through fear had not yet jelled. But the moment passed by and it was not long after that that most of us were required to leave Russia altogether.

From that time, 40 years ago, the people of Russia have believed that during the revolution, their country had been invaded and held by foreign troops.

In fact, when in March 1918, I traveled through Siberia to China, foreign troops were actually on Russian soil. We first encountered them at Chita where the Czechs were; then as we moved into Manchuria, the buildup of Japanese troops was just beginning.

The Japanese definitely planned to take the maritime provinces of Siberia. This would have included such cities as Vladivostok, Habarovsk, and the vast area to the north.

American railroad engineers and troops were being sent in to prevent the Trans - Siberian railroad and the northern half of the Chinese Eastern railroad from falling to the Japanese as the loot of war. Also the Americans were there to help the Czechs to return to their own country.

Nevertheless the Americans and Japanese were all over the area and if they developed an antagonism toward each other, it did not matter to the Russians who feared them both and wanted them off Russian soil.

Soviet Russia signed a separate peace with the Germans at Brest-Litovsk after considerable trouble. Altogether the felling of every Russian, important or just plain Ivan, was that the great powers were taking advantage of Russia's distress to partition the country among them.

It was this attitude that added strength to the Bolshevik cause and gained for it currency among elements that hated Bolshevism and all Bolsheviks.

Over-Pricing Farm Goods Is Rapped

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Paarlberg, assistant secretary of agriculture, believes abundant farm products "cannot be priced as if they were scarce."

He pointed out that this year's farm output is expected to equal or exceed the all-time record, despite the soil bank and acreage controls.

"No controls which are acceptable to farm people appear capable of appreciably reducing the volume of farm production," he added.

The Bolsheviks could not know where the attack would come from. At Chita, for instance, was a grand encampment of self-governing Czechs who might have established a government of their own in any area they chose in the Lake Baikal region.

It was expected that British, French and American troops would march through Russia and reestablish the second front against the Kaiser.

The first task of the Bolshevik government was to make peace with the Germans. For this purpose, negotiations were established at Brest-Liktovsk. It is curious how history is affected decisively and finally by the attitude of single individuals. Trotzky, I am convinced, favored continuing the war against Germany if the allies would then and there recognize the Bolsheviks as the legitimate successors of the Kerensky regime and would provide the Bolsheviks such aid as Kerensky received.

I know that these views were presented to several of the many conflicting Americans who were in Petrograd in those days. Sir George Buchanan, the British ambassador, was opposed to dealing with the Reds.

Our ambassador, David Francis, was not a man of strong opinions except that he hated Raymond Robins, the Red Cross man, and Edgar Sisson, George Creel's man and Arthur Bullard, who was, I believe Col. House's representative.

An incident occurred about this time, the general outlines of which are clear in my memory although some of the details may be wrong.

The plan was to kidnap Ambassador Francis and to hold him hostage until big Bill Haywood was let out of prison in the United States.

The idea was to show the world a picture of proletarian solidarity. I heard of this plot in my rounds as a reporter. I repeated it to Trotzky, pointing out that if anyone kidnaped the American ambassador, for whatever reason, it would justify intervention.

Trotzky stationed a tank and troops in front of the American embassy to safeguard Francis and if my memory serves me, he called on Francis. That was a rare moment when an understanding might have been reached. The Bolshevik policy of antagonism through fear had not yet jelled. But the moment passed by and it was not long after that that most of us were required to leave Russia altogether.

From that time, 40 years ago, the people of Russia have believed that during the revolution, their country had been invaded and held by foreign troops.

In fact, when in March 1918, I traveled through Siberia to China, foreign troops were actually on Russian soil. We first encountered them at Chita where the Czechs were; then as we moved into Manchuria, the buildup of Japanese troops was just beginning.

The Japanese definitely planned to take the maritime provinces of Siberia. This would have included such cities as Vladivostok, Habarovsk, and the vast area to the north.

American railroad engineers and troops were being sent in to prevent the Trans - Siberian railroad and the northern half of the Chinese Eastern railroad from falling to the Japanese as the loot of war. Also the Americans were there to help the Czechs to return to their own country.

Nevertheless the Americans and Japanese were all over the area and if they developed an antagonism toward each other, it did not matter to the Russians who feared them both and wanted them off Russian soil.

Soviet Russia signed a separate peace with the Germans at Brest-Litovsk after considerable trouble. Altogether the felling of every Russian, important or just plain Ivan, was that the great powers were taking advantage of Russia's distress to partition the country among them.

It was this attitude that added strength to the Bolshevik cause and gained for it currency among elements that hated Bolshevism and all Bolsheviks.

Over-Pricing Farm Goods Is Rapped

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Paarlberg, assistant secretary of agriculture, believes abundant farm products "cannot be priced as if they were scarce."

He pointed out that this year's farm output is expected to equal or exceed the all-time record, despite the soil bank and acreage controls.

"No controls which are acceptable to farm people appear capable of appreciably reducing the volume of farm production," he added.

Cystic Fibrosis Still Is Threat to Children

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Probably very few of you have ever heard of cystic fibrosis. Yet this disease, a grave one for children, is more common than multiple sclerosis and muscular dystrophy. And I'm sure most of you have heard of them.

Cystic fibrosis is a congential, hereditary disease of children whose respiratory tracts are blocked by abnormal secretions of mucus. This leads to obstruction, infection and, too often, death.

The lungs, the pancrease, the salivary glands and the sweat glands are involved. About one youngster in every 600 is affected. Unfortunately, half of the victims did not heretofore survive past the age of five.

However, with our recent medical advances, it is now possible for persons who fall victim to cystic fibrosis in infancy to reach their teens and in some cases, their twenties.

Despite continued doses of antibiotics to control pulmonary infection, cystic fibrosis remains a daily threat to all who have it. In fact, one expert on the disease makes the grim statement that for 80 per cent of all young victims of the disease, "the prognosis is grave."

Currently, the treatment being used for C.F. children (as we call young victims) is continued use of antibiotics both by mouth and by inhalation therapy. This helps prevent and control lung infections.

As a substitute for blocked digestive enzymes, pancreas replacement products are needed. Special water - soluble vitamins and high protein foods also are given.

Cystic fibrosis is transmitted to offspring by a recessive gene which both parents must have. In most families of such parents, one out of four children is affected. In some, however, the incidence rate may run as high as four or five out of five children.

Cystic fibrosis is not detected quite as often as it should be. One of the reasons is that symptoms are similar to other conditions, such as asthma and bronchitis.

Most common symptoms are chronic cough, repeated pneumonia, bulky diarrhea and a tremendous appetite, but little gain in weight.

Cystic fibrosis presents a serious threat to many of our children. We're working on a solution to this grave problem; but unfortunately, as yet we don't have it.

Try and Stop Me

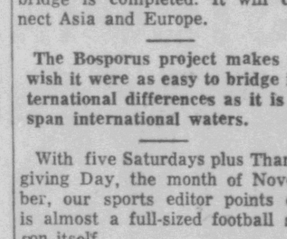
BACK FROM DARKEST AFRICA, a noted author was addressing a woman's club. "Those poor women out there," he pointed out, "are cruelly used by their menfolk. Believe it or not, I once even saw a woman and a donkey hitched together."



"What's unusual about that?" snorted one lady in the audience. "Come home with me after the lecture and let me introduce you to my husband!"

Food, Drug Administration's Functions Told by Chieftain

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, George P. Larrick, is commissioner of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

By GEORGE P. LARRICK
(For Jane Eads)

Two questions frequently asked us are: "Just how good is the American food and drug supply?" "What can consumers do to help the Food and Drug Administration in its job of protecting the public?"

These questions are related. The foods, drugs and cosmetics used by the American people are the best that any nation has ever enjoyed in all history. The food, drug and cosmetic industries are working harder than ever to make further improvements in products, packaging and distribution. Changes are going on all the time. This is progress.

But progress also has a way of creating all sorts of new problems. More followup investigation must be done on the potent new drugs that are being released for sale today. There are more steps in processing today's ready - to-heat-and-eat food products—which means more work for FDA inspectors. There is an increasing use of food additives—small amounts of chemicals which help to keep foods crisp or prevent them from drying out, or becoming rancid or mouldy, or which improve the appearance or the flavor.

This, too, is progress, but a law is needed which will require these materials to be thoroughly tested or their safety before they are tried out on the public. We also need more scientists to research these new materials and problems which affect the public health and pocketbook. And, of course, we always have that minority group of careless and criminal operators who keep us busy with law enforcement activities.

Congress is helping us in two ways—it is supporting an expansion program with increased appropriations and considering amendments to the law to take care of the chemical additive problem.

Consumers can help, too, by taking an active interest in local, state and federal food and drug laws and their enforcement.

Ag Secretary Change Seen Possible Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm leaders here figure that if there is to be a change in the secretaryship of agriculture, it will be made possibly this week.

There have been reports that the administration is considering replacing Ezra Taft Benson in the post because of sharp criticism of him by agricultural leaders in and out of Congress, including many Republicans.

Benson himself says that he does not intend to resign, but stated that he was serving on a day to day basis subject to wishes of President Eisenhower.

A Dec. 1 deadline for a possible change was suggested by observers on the theory that a new secretary would need at least a month to develop possible new farm program recommendations for presentation to Congress when it convenes early in January.

Leaders generally agreed that if Benson is still on the job the first of the month, there likely will be no shift in the Cabinet post any time soon. They see little likelihood of any change during the coming legislative session.

Meanwhile, Benson and his aides kept on working on various 1958 crop control and production programs — a fact that caused many department employes to conclude that no change is imminent.

Ag Secretary Change Seen Possible Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm leaders here figure that if there is to be a change in the secretaryship of agriculture, it will be made possibly this week.

There have been reports that the administration is considering replacing Ezra Taft Benson in the post because of sharp criticism of him by agricultural leaders in and out of Congress, including many Republicans.

Benson himself says that he does not intend to resign, but stated that he was serving on a day to day basis subject to wishes of President Eisenhower.

A Dec. 1 deadline for a possible change was suggested by observers on the theory that a new secretary would need at least a month to develop possible new farm program recommendations for presentation to Congress when it convenes early in January.

Leaders generally agreed that if Benson is still on the job the first of the month, there likely will be no shift in the Cabinet post any time soon. They see little likelihood of any change during the coming legislative session.

Meanwhile, Benson and his aides kept on working on various 1958 crop control and production programs — a fact that caused many department employes to conclude that no change is imminent.

Margaret Truman Set For TV Return

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Comeback?" says Margaret Truman. "I didn't know I had been away."

That was her reaction to comments on the resumption of her career as a performer. Absent for more than a year because of the birth of her son, Clifton Truman Daniel, she was here to perform a dramatic role on Matinee Theater and do some singing with Giselle McKenzie.

"I must admit that I was more nervous before the matinee show than I've ever been in my life," she said. Despite this, she drew good notices from the reviewers, not to mention her No. 1 fan, ex-president Harry Truman.

Miss Truman also drew unexpected praise from Ethel Barrymore, an inveterate TV fan who caught the show and said her work was "exceptionally good."

All this has helped spur Margaret on to new activity — she spurns the word "comeback."

"I still have from 9 to 12 shows to do for NBC each year," she explained. "It is basically the same contract I have had since 1950, though they let me off last year. I guess they didn't want a very pregnant lady appearing on their shows."

She is married to Clifton Daniel Sr., assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times. Does he approve of her working?

"I wouldn't be doing it if he didn't," she replied dutifully.

He Gives Up Lush Position for Love

WAKEFIELD, England (AP) — Malcolm Fisher, 20, gave up a share in a $67,000 business, all for love.

A Magistrates' Court here overruled objections from his father and granted him permission to marry Anne Robinson, a pretty 20-year-old bank clerk.

Malcolm's father, a prosperous garage proprietor, had told the youth he is too young and inexperienced to marry. "You can either have the girl or the business," the father said.

Young Fisher chose the girl. He is working as a truck driver at $ 6.40 a week.

Only Television Could Have Told of Era

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the fascinating aspects of "The Innocent Years" on NBC-TV was that we never would have had this intimate portrait of an era if it were not for the invention of television.

The "Project 20" creation of the age between 1900 and World War I was one of those occasions when a snob who does not believe that television can provide artful entertainment should regret his refusal to buy a TV set.

I was especially struck by one aspect of "The Innocent Years"—as aspect that came through unconsciously on the old films and was noted by Daniel Jones, who led the long search for the material. Did you notice the vigorous actions of the people in the days of grandfather's prime?

When Teddy Roosevelt chopped a tree, he slaughtered it. When William Howard Taft hit a golf ball, he killed it. When Mark Twain had a movie camera pushed in his face, he snarled at it. When Thomas A. Edison, who suffered from deafness, couldn't hear an assistant, he slammed a fist on his desk.

Perhaps it takes the lapse of a half-century to find positive virtues in an era. With all its faults, that age had virtues which shone in "The Innocent Years." The program revealed there was happiness in innocence.

"MONEY-AHEAD" CONTEST

Fantastic? It's mighty near unbelievable! But true – just read this:

You can win $500 a month for the rest of your life. You can win a gleaming new "Money-Ahead" '58 Plymouth. You can win other valuable prizes.

It's the Plymouth "Money-Ahead" Contest, where a lifetime of financial security is ripe for the taking. Few things are more substantial than money, and a lot of money is the grand prize. But this is a contest where you can win big without hauling down first prize . . . for 18 sparkling new Plymouths and 450 other valuable prizes will be awarded.

Now here's what you do:

Go into your Plymouth Dealer's and ask him for a contest blank. You don't have to be a mental giant to shoot for the big money. This contest is fun, and it's easy.

You simply unscramble seven easy words and terms, like the one you see in the example to the right. Then add your own short version of why you'd be money ahead in a '58 Plymouth. Believe us, there are plenty of good reasons you can use: Torsion-Aire, Total-Contact Brakes, Silver Dart Style, Push-Button Driving, new Golden Commando engines, etc.

Unscramble or scramble – but you better not amble – to your Plymouth Dealer soon. The fun starts Monday, Nov. 25.

Margaret Truman Set For TV Return

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Comeback?" says Margaret Truman. "I didn't know I had been away."

That was her reaction to comments on the resumption of her career as a performer. Absent for more than a year because of the birth of her son, Clifton Truman Daniel, she was here to perform a dramatic role on Matinee Theater and do some singing with Giselle McKenzie.

"I must admit that I was more nervous before the matinee show than I've ever been in my life," she said. Despite this, she drew good notices from the reviewers, not to mention her No. 1 fan, ex-president Harry Truman.

Miss Truman also drew unexpected praise from Ethel Barrymore, an inveterate TV fan who caught the show and said her work was "exceptionally good."

All this has helped spur Margaret on to new activity — she spurns the word "comeback."

"I still have from 9 to 12 shows to do for NBC each year," she explained. "It is basically the same contract I have had since 1950, though they let me off last year. I guess they didn't want a very pregnant lady appearing on their shows."

She is married to Clifton Daniel Sr., assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times. Does he approve of her working?

"I wouldn't be doing it if he didn't," she replied dutifully.

Tobacco Auction Opens

RIPLEY (AP)—Auction of the new burley tobacco crop starts here today at the Farmers' Warehouse, the only tobacco market in Ohio. Officials figured that more than eight million pounds will sell for over $5 million.

He Gives Up Lush Position for Love

WAKEFIELD, England (AP) — Malcolm Fisher, 20, gave up a share in a $67,000 business, all for love.

A Magistrates' Court here overruled objections from his father and granted him permission to marry Anne Robinson, a pretty 20-year-old bank clerk.

Malcolm's father, a prosperous garage proprietor, had told the youth he is too young and inexperienced to marry. "You can either have the girl or the business," the father said.

Young Fisher chose the girl. He is working as a truck driver at $ 6.40 a week.

Safety Chief Named

COLUMBUS (AP)—Val Habjen of Euclid has been named chairman of the Ohio Youth Traffic Safety Conference. Habjen was elected at the concluding session of the conference's second annual meeting here Saturday.

Only Television Could Have Told of Era

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the fascinating aspects of "The Innocent Years" on NBC-TV was that we never would have had this intimate portrait of an era if it were not for the invention of television.

The "Project 20" creation of the age between 1900 and World War I was one of those occasions when a snob who does not believe that television can provide artful entertainment should regret his refusal to buy a TV set.

I was especially struck by one aspect of "The Innocent Years"—as aspect that came through unconsciously on the old films and was noted by Daniel Jones, who led the long search for the material. Did you notice the vigorous actions of the people in the days of grandfather's prime?

When Teddy Roosevelt chopped a tree, he slaughtered it. When William Howard Taft hit a golf ball, he killed it. When Mark Twain had a movie camera pushed in his face, he snarled at it. When Thomas A. Edison, who suffered from deafness, couldn't hear an assistant, he slammed a fist on his desk.

Perhaps it takes the lapse of a half-century to find positive virtues in an era. With all its faults, that age had virtues which shone in "The Innocent Years." The program revealed there was happiness in innocence.

As 1958 Campaign Nears, Ohio Dems Poor, GOP Flush

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Approach of the 1958 election year sharpens the contrast between state headquarters of the Democratic and Republican parties in Ohio.

Democrats, pressed to pay rent on offices in the Deshler-Hilton Hotel here, long for new quarters better suited to their financial and physical needs for an uphill campaign now gaining momentum.

Republicans, holding all elective state offices and big legislative and Ohio congressional majorities, have maintained headquarters for nearly a decade a few doors north of the hotel at Broad and High streets.

Members of the Democratic Executive Committee meet in Columbus Dec. 2 to consider a move to more adequate headquarters in preparation for next year's campaign. Finances complicate the picture.

William L. Coleman, who became Democratic state chairman in May 1956, has continued to serve without pay since last December. The salary he didn't get is $15,000 a year.

The Marysville attorney-farmer has organized a double drive for funds to replenish Democratic coffers.

One phase is a "Dollars-For-Democrats" effort to raise money for campaigns on national, state and local levels. The other seeks 100,000 members paying annual "dues" of $2 to $100 in an Ohio Democratic Club. Members now approximate 10,000. More than 50 county chairmen have agreed to participate in the Dollars-For-Democrats drive.

Required reports on spending by state organizations of both parties in the 1956 election campaigns point up the financial picture. Coleman said the GOP State Finance Committee reported $1,870,000 compared with the Democratic State Executive Committee's $87,000.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican state chairman since early 1949, says money is more difficult to raise for this campaign than in former years. But his paydays are regular at the rate of $18,000 a year. And Republicans expect to stay in their headquarters that are ample for stepped - up activities during campaign years.

Bliss, an Akron insurance man, also has tactical advantages Coleman is hardpressed to match. He has a national reputation as a political strategist and organization builder. A member of the GOP National Committee, Bliss has been under consideration at various times for national chairman. He now heads the Midwest and Rocky Mountain State Chairman's Assn., composed of Ohio and 20 other states.

Republicans expect to field a slate of veteran political incumbents for state offices and avoid conflicts in the May primary elections that often cause later rifts in party ranks.

Democrats already have a few announced candidates and are pressing for a full slate. A 10-member advisory committee, headed by Murray D. Lincoln, Columbus insurance man, will make its first report on candidate prospects at the executive committee meeting. The advisory group was formed to encourage a large field of capable candidates and recruit them if necessary.

Before taking over as state chairman, Coleman for eight years was Union County Democratic chairman and prosecutor. He succeeded Eugene H. Hanhart of Dover who served without salary at headquarters in the Neil House during Lausche administrations.

Hanhart and Lausche came under fire of Democratic leaders who complained they failed to give all-out support to the entire party ticket in elections.

Coleman has sought to put a statewide organization behind all party activities with the aid of Michael V. DiSalle, Toledo, unsuccessful candidate for governor in '56 and titular head of the party in Ohio.

Undismayed by the solid election-year front presented by Bliss and company, Coleman insists chances are good for Democratic gains.

"Enthusiasm in the Democratic Party in Ohio has never been higher," Coleman asserted. "We have never had so many people willing to work so hard nor have we had so many good, new ideas for helping improve our performance."

Bliss and other Republican leaders, busy with plans for welcoming President Eisenhower to Cleveland for a nationwide address Tuesday night, don't see things that way from their entrenched positions.

Ranch House Hearing Dec. 3

Hearing has been set for 8:30 a. m. Dec. 3 at the State Liquor Department in Columbus on a petition from Fayette County Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson requesting that the beer sales permit of the Ranch House Restaurant, 750 W. Elm St., be revoked.

Thompson filed the complaint after Janet Paul, a Ranch House waitress, was found guilty in Municipal Court of two counts of serving intoxicants to minors.

The minors a 16-year-old boy and a 17-year-old boy, were both sentenced in Juvenile Court for drinking.

Teen Driver Grounded

Charles E. Rhea, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhea, Dayton, lost his driving rights for one month when he appeared in Fayette County Juvenile Court on a charge of speeding. Probate Judge Robert L. Brubaker said the offense occurred on Route 35.

Ohio's Governor Outlines His Views on Space Objects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's governor took time out Saturday to help a Toledo student meet a civics assignment.

Charles Alexander, senior in Whitmer High School, wrote to Gov. C. William O'Neill for his views on Sputnik's effect on U.S. national security and scientific research.

Here is the governor's reply:

I trust that this letter will reach you in sufficient time to be of assistance in your civics assignment.

In your letter to me, you asked the question: "Do you believe that Russia's launching of the satellite, Sputnik, is a threat to our national security?

"I do not feel that the launching of Sputnik is, in and of itself, a threat to our national security. I think the threat to our national security, if any, lies in the fact that certain people sometimes get panicky when something unbelievably new occurs. If the persons, who become emotional about it, are not able to convince other people that there is danger, then there would be no danger, in my judgment, to our national security. As Franklin Delano Roosevelt once said (if I might cross party lines): 'The only thing we have to fear is fear itself'; and I just do not believe the American people are inclined to be afraid in time of crisis.

"We demonstrated during World War II that our production methods and capabilities are the greatest in the world. I do not feel that we have lost any ground in this respect. With our great genius for production and the fact that the American people have remained calm, I believe—for the moment at least—that our national security is not threatened to any serious degree.

"Your second question was: '. . . what effect will this have on stepping up the United States' experiments in this field?'

"We have already seen that there is much stepping up of our experiments in this connection. I feel that, perhaps, we have become too complacent and, even now, it not easy for some of our people to believe that the Russians have out-stepped us in this respect.

It seems to me that this will have a desirable effect and that—with our "know-how" and the leadership of President Eisenhower through the men he has selected to spearhead experiments in this field—we will soon again be the world leader.

Few Women Really Know How To Give Well-Balanced Party

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

It's fun to give a party, but few women know how, says Nata Lee, who has made parties her business for the last 20 years.

Nata, a homey type of wife, mother and grandmother, has observed the party-giving haoits of countesses and career girls, grand dames and budgeted housewives, and has observed that all are prone to make the same mistakes.

"The most common mistake of hostesses," says she, "is getting too ambitious in planning a party. They are likely to get so involved in working out elaborate food that they haven't time to give proper thought to the guest list."

Nata believes even the simplest dinner party for a half-dozen friends should be planned with care, and that it's just as important to plan good talk as it is to produce good food.

"Whom to invite is your first problem," says she. "To have a successful party, you must bring together guests who will have some interests in common, who will produce stimulating conversation and won't be at sword's point before the evening is over.

"Then look over the room for your party, and never invite more people than can be seated comfortably in that room. Consider your service. If you haven't a staff, don't try to have a formal sit-down dinner for more than six people. Plan your table setting, and if it is a buffet dinner, be sure to have enough tables for your guests—don't make them balance plates on their laps.

If you bring interesting, congenial people together in a pleasant, restful atmosphere, a drink and a potato chip can make a successful party, says Nata.

"With the disappearance of big household staffs and the resulting changes in our way of living, the informal buffet is the most graceful way to entertain these days," says she.

"Two or three perfect dishes, perfectly cooked and seasoned and simply served, are far better than an elaborate array of tasteless food decorated and garnished within an inch of its life.

"Be sure the food you serve tastes good and that there's plenty of it. Congenial guests and good conversation will take care of the rest of the party."

6 Ohio River Barges Lost In Big Blaze

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Officials are investigating the cause of a fire that swept through six barges on the Ohio River near here early Sunday, destroying some two million gallons of gasoline, kerosene, oil and liquid asphalt.

The fire's origin has not been determined.

Firemen, aided by the Coast Guard and the Army Corps of Engineers, fought the blaze for nearly 12 hours before bringing it under control.

No one was injured.

Estimates of damage vary, but the Ohio Highway Patrol said it may reach one million dollars.

The barges were owned by the Ashland Oil and Refining Co. They were being towed northward through Lock 15 at nearby Duffy in southeastern Monroe County when the fire broke out about 1 a. m. Lockmaster William Haught said no explosion accompanied the blaze.

Fire departments from within a 40-mile radius were called in, Haught said. The lockmaster said the fire was brought under control by about 5 a. m., but erupted again about 9:30. It was finaly extinguished about 12:50 p. m., he said.

The barges were moved from the locks and saved but were damaged to the extent of about $100,000, fire officials said. The highway patrol estimated that between $500,000 and $1,000,000 in fuel was destroyed, and another $20,000 to $25,000 in damages was done to the lock.

Vending Firms Planning Big For Future

Engineers Working On Machine To Turn Out Full Meal in Package

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The fast stepping vending industry has big plans on the drawing boards.

Engineers are working on a single machine which will serve a full meal, bringing the food from freezing storage temperature to eating temperature in less than a minute. They say this one—to serve hot food on a plastic tray along with cold salads and desserts—may be two or three years away. Cooking speed is the chief unlicked problem.

Industry spokesmen say vending sales have risen about two billion dollars this year from 30 million dollars in 1925. Today there are an estimated three million machines in use, tended by 5,500 operators.

Vending machines in factories, the enthusiasts say, will make the lunch box and plant cafeteria obsolete. The National Automatic Merchandising Assn. says one out of every five manufacturing plants are using them today.

An automated cafeteria of the North Electric Co. in Galion, Ohio, uses 10 vending machines to serve 33 selections of food and beverages, available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Menus are planned a week in advance. They offer choices of three hot and cold sandwiches, three hot main courses, three hot soups, three chilled salads, three ice creams, five pastries, five pies, six cold drinks and three hot.

An apartment house in Minneapolis has machines where tenants can buy milk, bread, eggs, meat, vegetables and butter without going to the store.

A man with a hangover in San Antonio can put a dime in the slot and get a whiff of oxygen. A Chicago hotel lets you put a quarter in a slot and start an undulating motion in the mattress which gently rocks you to sleep.

FILE AMENDED PETITIONS

Three members of a Fairborn family who are asking a total of $60,000 damages in the aftermath of a five-vehicle collision near West Lancaster on March 26, 1955, have filed amended petitions in Common Pleas Court.

Morris E. Tipton asks $40,000 for injuries and lost working time as a result of the crash; his wife, Anne, and his daughter, Patricia, both seek $10,000.

Defendants are Fleet Maintenance Co. and Sears Roebuck and Co, both of Chicago; William and George Roden, Jamestown, and Louis Decker, Oaklawn, Ill.

The Tiptons claim that their car was struck in the rear by a cattle truck operated by the Rodens and that a tractor-trailer owned and operated by the other three defendants crashed into the wreckage which by that time involved two other automobiles.

The Tiptons claim negligence on the part of the defendants.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

So far as I know the only broom maker in Fayette County, and in fact one of the few in this part of Ohio, is L. E. Leasure, of 902 E. Temple St., who has a small broom-making shop in the rear of his store building, 316 Walnut St., where, at the age of 80 years, he turns out three to four dozen of finished brooms every week.

For nearly 25 years Leasure has been blind, but with the aid of a modern stitcher, and being familiar with all phases of the work, he proceeds almost as rapidly with his work as if he could see perfectly.

Leasure has been a broom maker for 50 years. He started work in a buggy shed at his home, then moved to Second St., Sunnyside, where he worked for several years.

Later he had a shop over Burke's Monument Works when that concern was located in a building on the site of the Dayton Power and Light Co. building.

He then built a shop at the corner of Rawling and Walnut Sts., and operated his business there for five years.

Thirty-nine years ago he started in business at his present location and has continued there since that time.

"I like to keep busy, and time seems pretty long when I am not working", the octogenarian said.

He does all his work in making brooms except the stitching, and this is done by a helper who works part time on Saturday.

He sorts the "corn" and makes three or four grades of brooms, depending upon the quality of the straw, length, and size of broom.

The winding machine was made by Perry Williams, who lived in Bloomingburg, and it has been used by Leasure for 50 years. It was 10 years old when he brought it.

Leasure started losing his sight when he was about 25 years of age. He said that for 20 years he has not been able to see.

His skill in workmanship and knowledge of materials combine to produce quality brooms which he has sold at retail and wholesale in Fayette County for a half century.

"I have sales for all brooms I can make" he said in speaking of his product. Those who have bought his brooms invariably go back for others.

For 35 years he has taught the Men's Bible Class at McNair Presbyterian Church, and his ability as a teacher is manifested by his long tenure in the position of teacher.

As I left his little shop one day recently I heard him singing a hymn, and I knew that although he works in darkness, he walks in the light.

INVENTED VENTILATOR

George B. Swope, for many years the master mechanic of Washington C. H. who, with Harry Miller, in 1900, built the first automobile ever constructed in the city, was the inventor and manufacturer of a patented ventilator of foundation grate for buildings, and many of these are still in use here and elsewhere.

Soon after 1900 he opened a garage and machine shop in East St., where the Sunshine Laundry is now located, and he manufactured the grates in his plant there.

He also operated an up-to-date machine shop and foundry, and the first garage in the city.

In 1909 he was advertising "We make anything and repair everything."

He not only had the first garage in the city, opened soon after the turn of the century, but he had the first gasoline service pumps, located just inside his garage on the east side of the main entrance.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Western Front in France was aflame with heavy fighting as the British and French pushed the Germans back and Allied guns were dominating Cambrai, while a German - Austrian effort to wipe out Italian forces had halted on the Piave River, and Allied troops were rushing in to help Italians hold the line.

Another German submarine sunk by American destroyers using depth charges. The Germans were making vicious counter attacks in France. Russia was discussing separate peace terms with Germany.

Many steel mills closed for lack of coal, and a report stated 11,000 carloads of coal were backed up in railroad yards in Kentucky.

The mercury drooped to 14 above zero during the week.

Mrs. Armilda Johnson died in home at Johnson's Crossing.

All persons handling explosives were required to obtain licenses.

H. W. Bussert, State Rd. was Fayette County's champion corn grower, with 116.28 bushels to the acre, and Grayson Kirk (now president of Columbia University) was second in the county with 109.47 bushels to acre. Both young men won trips to New York and Washington D. C.

National Guardsmen from every state in the Union were in France training for front line duty.

A huge movement of American troops to the war zone in France was disclosed.

"The world is on fire," Walter Patton, local YMCA secretary, on duty in France for the Y overseas, wrote to the Record-Herald, and at same time urged everyone to realize that home and country depended upon making every sacrifice and effort to win the war.

Band Boosters To Meet Tonight

The Band Boosters, an organization formed three months ago to boost the Washington C. H. High School band and support its overall program of activities, will hold its third meeting at 8 p. m. (tonight) Monday in the high school band room.

There will be a short business meeting—at least is scheduled to be a short one, unless the committee heads come up with some suggestions for discussion. However, Mrs. M. Grove Davis, president, did not give out an agenda in advance.

After that, Grover Baber, city school music instructor, will entertain the group with several vocal selections.

Bandmaster Robert Neumann is to be there to answer questions and outline the band's plans for the future.

Few Women Really Know How To Give Well-Balanced Party

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

It's fun to give a party, but few women know how, says Nata Lee, who has made parties her business for the last 20 years.

Nata, a homey type of wife, mother and grandmother, has observed the party-giving haoits of countesses and career girls, grand dames and budgeted housewives, and has observed that all are prone to make the same mistakes.

"The most common mistake of hostesses," says she, "is getting too ambitious in planning a party. They are likely to get so involved in working out elaborate food that they haven't time to give proper thought to the guest list."

Nata believes even the simplest dinner party for a half-dozen friends should be planned with care, and that it's just as important to plan good talk as it is to produce good food.

"Whom to invite is your first problem," says she. "To have a successful party, you must bring together guests who will have some interests in common, who will produce stimulating conversation and won't be at sword's point before the evening is over.

"Then look over the room for your party, and never invite more people than can be seated comfortably in that room. Consider your service. If you haven't a staff, don't try to have a formal sit-down dinner for more than six people. Plan your table setting, and if it is a buffet dinner, be sure to have enough tables for your guests—don't make them balance plates on their laps."

If you bring interesting, congenial people together in a pleasant, restful atmosphere, a drink and a potato chip can make a successful party, says Nata.

"With the disappearance of big household staffs and the resulting changes in our way of living, the informal buffet is the most graceful way to entertain these days," says she.

"Two or three perfect dishes, perfectly cooked and seasoned and simply served, are far better than an elaborate array of tasteless food decorated and garnished within an inch of its life!

"Be sure the food you serve tastes good and that there's plenty of it. Congenial guests and good conversation will take care of the rest of the party."

6 Ohio River Barges Lost In Big Blaze

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Officials are investigating the cause of a fire that swept through six barges on the Ohio River near here early Sunday, destroying some two million gallons of gasoline, kerosene, oil and liquid asphalt.

The fire's origin has not been determined.

Firemen, aided by the Coast Guard and the Army Corps of Engineers, fought the blaze for nearly 12 hours before bringing it under control.

No one was injured.

Estimates of damage vary, but the Ohio Highway Patrol said it may reach one million dollars.

The barges were owned by the Ashland Oil and Refining Co. They were being towed northward through Lock 15 at nearby Duffy in southeastern Monroe County when the fire broke out about 1 a. m. Lockmaster William Haught said no explosion accompanied the blaze.

Fire departments from within a 40-mile radius were called in, Haught said. The lockmaster said the fire was brought under control by about 5 a. m., but erupted again about 9:30. It was finally extinguished about 12:50 p. m., he said.

The barges were moved from the locks and saved but were damaged to the extent of about $100,000, fire officials said. The highway patrol estimated that between $500,000 and $1,000,000 in fuel was destroyed, and another $20,000 to $25,000 in damages was done to the lock.

Vending Firms Planning Big For Future

Engineers Working On Machine To Turn Out Full Meal in Package

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The fast stepping vending industry has big plans on the drawing boards.

Engineers are working on a single machine which will serve a full meal, bringing the food from freezing storage temperature to eating temperature in less than a minute. They say this one—to serve hot food on a plastic tray along with cold salads and desserts—may be two or three years away. Cooking speed is the chief unlicked problem.

Industry spokesmen say vending sales have risen about two billion dollars this year from 30 million dollars in 1925. Today there are an estimated three million machines in use, tended by 5,500 operators.

Vending machines in factories, the enthusiasts say, will make the lunch box and plant cafeteria obsolete. The National Automatic Merchandising Assn. says one out of every five manufacturing plants are using them today.

An automated cafeteria of the North Electric Co. in Galion, Ohio, uses 10 vending machines to serve 33 selections of food and beverages, available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Menus are planned a week in advance. They offer choices of three hot and cold sandwiches, three hot main courses, three hot soups, three chilled salads, three ice creams, five pastries, five pies, six cold drinks and three hot.

An apartment house in Minneapolis has machines where tenants can buy milk, bread, eggs, meat, vegetables and butter without going to the store.

A man with a hangover in San Antonio can put a dime in the slot and get a whiff of oxygen. A Chicago hotel lets you put a quarter in a slot and start an undulating motion in the mattress which gently rocks you to sleep.

FILE AMENDED PETITIONS

Three members of a Fairborn family who are asking a total of $60,000 damages in the aftermath of a five-vehicle collision near West Lancaster on March 26, 1955, have filed amended petitions in Common Pleas Court.

Morris E. Tipton asks $40,000 for injuries and lost working time as a result of the crash; his wife, Anne, and his daughter, Patricia, both seek $10,000.

Defendants are Fleet Maintenance Co. and Sears Roebuck and Co, both of Chicago; William and George Roden, Jamestown, and Louis Decker, Oaklawn, Ill.

The Tiptons claim that their car was struck in the rear by a cattle truck operated by the Rodens and that a tractor-trailer owned and operated by the other three defendants crashed into the wreckage which by that time involved two other automobiles.

The Tiptons claim negligence on the part of the defendants.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

So far as I know the only broom maker in Fayette County, and in fact one of the few in this part of Ohio, is L. E. Leasure, of 902 E. Temple St., who has a small broom-making shop in the rear of his store building, 316 Walnut St., where, at the age of 80 years, he turns out three to four dozen of finished brooms every week.

For nearly 25 years Leasure has been blind, but with the aid of a modern stitcher, and being familiar with all phases of the work, he proceeds almost as rapidly with his work as if he could see perfectly.

Leasure has been a broom maker for 50 years. He started work in a buggy shed at his home, then moved to Second St., Sunnyside, where he worked for several years.

Later he had a shop over Burke's Monument Works when that concern was located in a building on the site of the Dayton Power and Light Co. building.

He then built a shop at the corner of Rawling and Walnut Sts., and operated his business there for five years.

Thirty-nine years ago he started in business at his present location and has continued there since that time.

"I like to keep busy, and time seems pretty long when I am not working", the octogenarian said.

He does all his work in making brooms except the stitching, and this is done by a helper who works part time on Saturday.

He sorts the "corn" and makes three or four grades of brooms, depending upon the quality of the straw, length, and size of broom.

The winding machine was made by Perry Williams, who lived in Bloomingburg, and it has been used by Leasure for 50 years. It was 10 years old when he brought it.

Leasure started losing his sight when he was about 25 years of age. He said that for 20 years he has not been able to see.

His skill in workmanship and knowledge of materials combine to produce quality brooms which he has sold at retail and wholesale in Fayette County for a half century.

"I have sales for all brooms I can make" he said in speaking of his product. Those who have bought his brooms invariably go back for others.

For 35 years he has taught the Men's Bible Class at McNair Presbyterian Church, and his ability as a teacher is manifested by his long tenure in the position of teacher.

As I left his little shop one day recently I heard him singing a hymn, and I knew that although he works in darkness, he walks in the light.

INVENTED VENTILATOR

George B. Swope, for many years the master mechanic of Washington C. H. who, with Harry Miller, in 1900, built the first automobile ever constructed in the city, was the inventor and manufacturer of a patented ventilator of foundation grate for buildings, and many of these are still in use here and elsewhere.

Soon after 1900 he opened a garage and machine shop in East St., where the Sunshine Laundry is now located, and he manufactured the grates in his plant there.

He also operated an up-to-date machine shop and foundry, and the first garage in the city.

In 1909 he was advertising "We make anything and repair everything."

He not only had the first garage in the city, opened soon after the turn of the century, but he had the first gasoline service pumps, located just inside his garage on the east side of the main entrance.

Paul Brown's Rookies Show Champion Form

Cleveland Plows Under Rams, 45-31, as Kids Substitute for Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Paul Brown's gamble on unpredictable rookie talent to revive his Cleveland Browns appears to have paid off.

Fullback Jim Brown, Coach Brown's No. 1 draft choice this season, yesterday gained a record 237 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns. He was the power behind Cleveland's 45-31 defeat of the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football League.

Milt Plum, No. 2 draft choice, filled in for injured quarterback Tom O'Connell and guided the Eastern Division leaders to five touchdowns and a field goal.

The Browns, with a 7-1-1 record, lead the New York Giants, who whipped the Chicago Cardinals 28-21. New York's record is 7-2-0.

The Western Division muddle was dissolved for a week at least when the Baltimore Colts whipped San Francisco 27-21 and the Chicago Bears upset Detroit 27-7. The Colts (6-3) took the lead and the 49ers and Lions (both 5-4) fell to second.

Green Bay blasted Pittsburgh's hopes of an Eastern title with a 27-10 lacing and Philadelphia whipped Washington 21-12.

Brown, Syracuse's All American in 1956, broke the 223-yard record set last season by Tom Wilson of Los Angeles.

O'Connell, the league's leading passer, was injured in the second period. The score was 7-7. Plum completed six of nine passes for 62 yards. The rookie played for Penn State.

John Unitas powered a Colt comeback for the third time this season. The quarterback spotted fullback Alan Ameche with an eight-yard touchdown pass with less than a minute to go.

Y. A. Tittle, 49ers quarterback, kept the 49ers in the game. He plunged for two scores and passed for the third.

Workhorse Rick Casares scored twice and delivered yardage whenever the Bears needed it against the Lions. Detroit fumbled twice and the Bears turned the recoveries into 10 points.

Chuck Conerly threw two scoring passes for the Giants and set up two other touchdowns with his passes against the Cardinals.

In the league's rushing race, Brown and Los Angeles' Tommy Wilson were 1-2 as the game started, Brown having a 7-yard edge. The Browns held Wilson to 34 yards in eight tries, and Brown zoomed 210 yards ahead of him.

It was Wilson who set the old NFL single-game rushing record last December with 223 yards in 23 tries.

Coach Paul E. Brown, wiping his brow after the see-saw scrap, said:

"I guess we made a couple of pretty fair draft choices. We knew Brown could run, and I wasn't surprised that Plum did such a fine job."

Fullback Brown, despite the greatest rushing day any pro player has ever enjoyed, observed:

"I didn't feel too strong out there today. But our line just opened those holes and all I had to do was run through 'em."

With O'Connell, the league's No. 1 passer, on the sidelines with a bruised shoulder, the Clevelanders had to rely on the grinding ground attack.

It was a game of breaks, and heartbreaks, all the way and a thriller for 65,407 fans—largest attendance here since 1953. The Browns converted an intercepted pass and two recovered fumbles into scores, and the Rams did it with one intercepted pass and one fumble.

One big break stood out amid a flock of others which led to scores. The big one came in the third period, with Los Angeles out in front by 28 to 17—a score which the Browns could cure only by a pair of touchdowns.

Art Hauser, huge Ram tackle, had run 29 yards with a Cleveland fumble to put the 28-17 on the board, and with their regular quarterback out, the outlook for the Browns was dim.

Plum hit Brown with two short passes into the Cleveland 43, but it was fourth down. As the Browns went into kicking formation, ready to surrender the ball, a Ram lineman moved offside and the Browns had the first down which kept them alive.

That's all they needed. Plum hit end Darrell Brewster with a nine-yard pass, and Brown zoomed through left tackle for 33. Two plays later he was over the goal line, and it was 28-24 as Lou Groza converted.

The Browns kicked off. Jon Arnett was tossed for a two-yard loss by Vince Costello. Then someone hit Ram quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, and Don Colo recovered for Cleveland on the Rams' seven. Three plays later Brown scored again to make it 31-28. The big fellow then contributed a 46-yard run to the final touchdown which Lew Carpenter scored on a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Gillman figured that if the Browns had been forced to punt, instead of getting the first down on the penalty, the two quick touchdowns wouldn't have materialized.

Lou Groza came up with a 48-yard field goal, his twelfth in 17 attempts, and converted six times for a 23 of 23 performance for the season. That gave the "Toe" 59 points for the year, but he couldn't break the league-leading deadlock with George Blanda of the Chicago Bears. Blanda made two field goals and three conversions to match Groza's total, remaining tied at 59. Jim Brown has 54.

With Cleveland 7-1-1 and New York's defending champions 7-2-0, their Dec. 15 date in the big city probably will decide the eastern laurels. Cleveland plays Chicago's Cardinals (2-6-0) here next Sunday, then the Lions (5-4-0) at Detroit. The Giants, beaten 6-3 by the Browns in the opener, meet San Francisco (5-4-0) and Pittsburgh (4-4-0) before the big one.

All Area Teams To Play Tuesday

Only Jeff Outfit Will Be on Road

All four Fayette County high school cage teams will be in action Tuesday night and three of them will be playing on their home floors.

Bloomingburg's Bulldogs, with a record of three victories and two defeats, will entertain the basketteers from Kingston, the team that trounced Madison Mills, 61-46, last Thursday night.

New Holland's Bulldogs, with a 3-1 record, will visit their neighbor at Good Hope, whose Mad Anthonys will be out for their second victory of the season.

The Warriors will be looking for their first win when they meet the cagers from Fairfield on the Madison Mills court.

Jeffersonville's Tigers, who have won two of their first three games this season, will be the only Fayette County team playing on a foreign floor Tuesday night. They are booked for a game at the Ohio Deaf School in Columbus.

* * *

FOR THREE of the outfits, these will be the last games this month. Only Jeffersonville's Tigers have another game this week; they are slated for a game at New Vienna Friday night.

That is the night the fifth team in the county, the Lions of Washington C. H. High School, will open their season. Bexley's Lions will come here then from Columbus for the WHS curtain-raiser.

The four Fayette County High school teams will open the Fayette County League schedule the first week of December. The Mad Anthonys are to play their opener at Bloomingburg the night of Dec. 6 and the Tigers are to play a 'home' game with Madison Mills on the Bloomingburg floor on Dec. 7.

The next game for New Holland's Bulldogs will be Dec. 3 when they go to Madison South for their sixth game of the season.

After Mather Quits, Kansas Cops 4 Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas Jayhawks put on one of the most amazing finishes in the history of the Big Eight football conference by beating Missouri 9-7 Saturday.

Ray Barnes, a sophomore sub, booted a 14-year fieldgoal with 48 seconds to go and for the fourth straight Saturday Kansas had come from behind in the closing minutes to gain a victory.

Those four Saturdays came after Chuck Mather and his coaching staff announced they were bowing out at the end of the season. The four victories gave Kansas a 4-2 record in the conference and a 5-4-1 mark for the season—the best showing in years.

Kansas athletic authorities are expected to start Tuesday on the job of screening candidates for the coaching job. There was persistent talk at Lawrence it would go to Jack Mitchell, presently head coach at Arkansas.

Mitchell acknowledged he is headed for Lawrence to talk about the post but said it hadn't yet been offered to him. He is a native of Kansas and was a star quarterback at Oklahoma.

Mather quit the Kansas job under pressure after his 1957 team had won only one game, lost four and tied one. It was his first college coaching job after a tremendous success with high school teams at Massillon, Ohio.

Trader Lane Finding Deals Come Slowly

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Lane, baseball's master trader who was recently appointed general manager of the Cleveland Indians, might have trouble swinging deals in the American League this season.

Lane, who huddled with Vice-President Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox Sunday, has one goal in mind.

"I'm out to get our club a second baseman or a shortstop or both," he said. "I'm willing to trade but I must get what we need and those are our two weak positions."

Lane admitted he'll have trouble trading but hoped to be able to consummate the deals he has in mind.

"Sure, I'll have trouble making deals," said frantic Frank, "you always do. I couldn't do anything with Comiskey but we have a lot of time.

"I'm willing to trade Ray Narleski or Early Wynn for infield strength but I have to get what I want."

The Sox expressed interest in pitchers Don Mossi, Narleski and Wynn but when Lane asked for second baseman Nelson Fox and shortstop Luis Aparicio, the at ended.

Lane was also disappointed about missing out on infielder Billy Martin who went from Kansas City to Detroit in a multi-player deal.

Spartans Seeking NSAA Harrier Title

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The long distance runners of Michigan State will try for a triple slam in cross country at the 19th annual NCAA meet today.

The Spartans already have won the Big Ten and IC4A titles. They also will be after a third straight team victory in the four - mile NCAA grind.

Notre Dame, Kansas, Texas, Houston and Iowa are expected to give Michigan State the best run for the team title.

Jeff Cagers Lose in Overtime At Sabina Saturday Night

Jeffersonville's Tigers lost their first game of the season, the first in three starts, but it took a tall and "real good" team and overtime period to do it.

The Tigers, who had won their first two games, bowed to the boys from Sabina, 68 to 65, at Sabina Saturday night.

The Tigers matched their rugged hosts basket for basket on field goals but lost the game at the foul line. The Tigers made 17 of 28 free throws and the Sabinans 20 of 30.

What hurt the Tigers most were the seven free throws the Sabina boys hit in the overtime when they scored 11 points.

The Tigers came from behind to tie the game at 57 - all at the end of the regular time.

At the state of the overtime, the Sabinans got the tip at center and scored a quick field goal. Then they went into a stall to protect their 2 - point lead. The only recourse left the Tigers was to get the ball and that's when they committed the inevitable fouls.

* * *

WHILE THE Tigers managed to tally 8 points in the overtime, these were not enough to keep up with the foul - shooting Sabinans.

Coach Robert Hildreth said he was disappointed over the loss, but added it was nothing to be ashamed of because "Sabina has a real good team and we were at a terrific height disadvantage."

Three of the Sabina boys, Bentley, 6-7, Kuehn, 6-4 and Pauley, 6-2, were at least an inch taller than the two tallest Tigers, Burson and McDonald at 6-1 each.

Pauley, a jump shot artist who has been averaging 24 points a game, was held to one field goal, although he made eight free throws.

But, while the Tigers were were checking Pauley and Bentley, a couple of fast little guards, Stewart and Young, were keeping Sabina in the game with an amazing display of outside shooting. Each hit seven field goals.

Jim Smith, high scorer for the Tigers, got eight field goals, most of them from the side. Alva Hanners, who accounted for 16 points, got five field goal on drive-ins.

* * *

SI SIZEMORE, who was injured two weeks ago at Bowersville, was back in the lineup for Jeffersonville and accounted for 11 points.

The Tigers hit 36.9 per cent of their shots from the field and Sabina 37.5 per cent.

Despite their height disadvantage, the Tigers got just about an even break on the rebounds and bankboard control.

Hunter's Negligence Basis for Accusation

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Negligence with his shotgun while hunting has been charged against Robert Entzie of McDonald in the wounding of a six-year-old girl Nov. 16.

Entzie was bound over to the Mahoning County Grand Jury Saturday night by a Canfield justice of the peace. Steve Gajewski complained that when Entzie fired at a pheasant, pellets hit the side of the Gajewski home 100 feet away and caused a slight injury to Gajewski's daughter, Barbara, who was playing in the yard.

Fieldgoal Plays Big Role in College Tilts

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the year that marked the return of the fieldgoal as a winning method in college football.

Virtually every week has had a payoff 3-pointer. Remember Monte Stickles' boot for Notre Dame that beat Army, and the kick made good by Billy Atkins to beat Georgia Tech 3-0 and kept alive Auburn's bid for a perfect season?

Dick Christy booted a 45-yard fieldgoal Saturday that defeated South Carolina 29-26 and gave North Carolina State its first Atlantic Coast Conference title.

Capt. Ted Searle made good from 30 yards out as defending champ Oregon State gained a share of the Pacific Coast Conference title with Oregon by defeating the Webfeet 10-7.

And with 48 seconds left, Ray Barnes, who earlier had missed a conversion, kicked a 24 - yard fieldgoal that gave Kansas a 9-7 victory over Missouri.

N. C. State, barred from bowl play by NCAA edict, got its chance for the title after the "final" gun. Officials ruled pass interference on an interception that spiked a State drive on what appeared to be the last play of the game. After the field was cleared of fans, State got another down and Christy, never before asked to try a fieldgoal, did it.

WHS Alumni Get in Shape For Grid Game

If the workouts of the Old Grads are any indication, that Alumni vs Alumni football game scheduled for 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day at Gardner Park will be a dandy.

That's the way the fans who have been watching the practices for the last few days look at it, anyway.

As of right now, each squad will be made up of 15 to 18 former WHS Lions, plus the present coaches.

They started out last week with light workouts, but by the end of the week they had been through some pretty tough scrimmages and they all appeared to survive the bumps in good shape.

This week the practice sessions will get down to the serious business of coordinating the plays. Coach Domenico said "they get them working in a hurry . . . and, because they have played a lot of football, it doesn't take them long to round out either a defense or an offense."

The game was arranged for three primary purposes: (1) To give the ex-Lions a chance to play again; (2) give the fan one last football game before snow covers the field and (3) put some money in the WHS athletic fund, which suffered from postponements and cancellations and substitutions games because of illness this season.

Haughton Clinches Sulky Driver Title

COLUMBUS — Billy Haughton, 34-year-old reinsman from Brookville, N. Y., has clinched his fifth straight title as the nation's leading harness horse driver, according to U. S. Trotting Association tabulations.

Deadlocked with William D. (Buddy) Gilmour, Haughton registered two victories last Thursday to regain leadership with a 154 total. Gilmour, of Ridgeway, Ontario, wound up his season at New York's Batavia Downs track a week ago with 152 victories.

The 25-year-old Canadian pilot has returned to his home and will be out of action the remainder of the year.

Haughton is now in New York for a final week's competition at Roosevelt Raceway starting today.

Ohio State Lays Bold Claim To National Football Crown

(By The Associated Press)

Ohio State, the once-beaten Big Ten champion, laid a bold claim today to the national collegiate football title for 1957.

The only team that appears to be in a position to challenge the powerful Buckeyes, who flattened Michigan 31-14 last weekend, is Auburn, king of the Southeastern Conference and one of the two remaining major unbeaten-untied teams. The Tigers and Arizona State of Tempe, a 41-0 winner over College of the Pacific, are 9-0 now.

A week ago, Michigan State was selected over Auburn as the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll. The Spartans, also had been beaten once, but their powerful offense apparently was more impressive than Auburn's tough defense.

Now the Spartans may be eliminated after the tough time they had beating Kansas State 27-9.

Auburn gave its defensive unit some offensive support for a change last week, thumping Florida State 29-7. But Ohio State, once again showing its running strength behind a dependable blocking line, came up with 372 yards rushing in its bid for the title.

Except for its opening game defeat by Texas Christian—a team that hasn't done much since the Buckeyes trampled everything in sight.

Ohio State will meet Oregon in the Rose Bowl and will rule the heavy favorite. Oregon was held to only a cochampionship in the Pacific Coast Conference, losing 10-7 to Oregon State, last year's bowl team, which claimed a share of the title.

As for Auburn's credentials, the Tigers have only Alabama (2-6-1) between them and a perfect season.

Auburn is on NCAA probation and is ineligible to play in a bowl.

The host spot for the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans Jan. 1, usually reserved for the conference king, probably will go to Mississippi—if Ol' Miss, idle last week, gets past ambitious Mississippi State.

The opponent will be determined by the Southwest Conference race. If Rice beats Baylor Saturday, the Owls go to the Cotton Bowl, and Texas A&M probably will provide the SEC's opposition in the Sugar Bowl. Rice whipped Texas Christians 20-0 last weekend. A&M, idle after the 7-6 upset by the Owls, plays Texas Thanksgiving Day.

The visiting team in the Cotton Bowl will be decided after Saturday's Army-Navy clash in Philadelphia. If Navy wins it, the Middies in all probability will head for Dallas.

The other major bowl — the Orange in Miami — is all set. Oklahoma, which started a new winning streak with a 32-7 victory over Nebraska Saturday, will meet Duke.

The Blue Devils were selected by the Atlantic Coast Conference although they took a 34-13 whipping from North Carolina Saturday. North Carolina State won the conference title with a 29-26 victory over South Carolina, but, like Auburn, is in the bad graces of the NCAA.

So no matter how it works out, there won't be an undefeated team in any of the four major bowls. That's a rarity.

Paul Brown's Rookies Show Champion Form

Cleveland Plows Under Rams, 45-31, as Kids Substitute for Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Paul Brown's gamble on unpredictable rookie talent to revive his Cleveland Browns appears to have paid off.

Fullback Jim Brown, Coach Brown's No. 1 draft choice this season, yesterday gained a record 237 yards rushing and scored four touchdowns. He was the power behind Cleveland's 45-31 defeat of the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football League.

Milt Plum, No. 2 draft choice, filled in for injured quarterback Tom O'Connell and guided the Eastern Division leaders to five touchdowns and a field goal.

The Browns, with a 7-1-1 record, lead the New York Giants, who whipped the Chicago Cardinals 28-21. New York's record is 7-2-0.

The Western Division muddle was dissolved for a week at least when the Baltimore Colts whipped San Francisco 27-21 and the Chicago Bears upset Detroit 27-7. The Colts (6-3) took the lead and the 49ers and Lions (both 5-4) fell to second.

Green Bay blasted Pittsburgh's hopes of an Eastern title with a 27-10 lacing and Philadelphia whipped Washington 21-12.

Brown, Syracuse's All American in 1956, broke the 223-yard record set last season by Tom Wilson of Los Angeles.

O'Connell, the league's leading passer, was injured in the second period. The score was 7-7. Plum completed six of nine passes for 62 yards. The rookie played for Penn State.

John Unitas powered a Colt comeback for the third time this season. The quarterback spotted fullback Alan Ameche with an eight-yard touchdown pass with less than a minute to go.

Y. A. Tittle, 49ers quarterback, kept the 49ers in the game. He plunged for two scores and passed for the third.

Workhorse Rick Casares scored twice and delivered yardage whenever the Bears needed it against the Lions. Detroit fumbled twice and the Bears turned the recoveries into 10 points.

Chuck Conerly threw two scoring passes for the Giants and set up two other touchdowns with his passes against the Cardinals.

In the league's rushing race, Brown and Los Angeles' Tommy Wilson were 1-2 as the game started, Brown having a 7-yard edge. The Browns held Wilson to 34 yards in eight tries, and Brown zoomed 210 yards ahead of him.

It was Wilson who set the old NFL single-game rushing record last December with 223 yards in 23 tries.

Coach Paul E. Brown, wiping his brow after the see-saw scrap, said:

"I guess we made a couple of pretty fair draft choices. We knew Brown could run, and I wasn't surprised that Plum did such a fine job."

Fullback Brown, despite the greatest rushing day any pro player has ever enjoyed, observed:

"I didn't feel too strong out there today. But our line just opened those holes and all I had to do was run through 'em."

With O'Connell, the league's No. 1 passer, on the sidelines with a bruised shoulder, the Clevelanders had to rely on the grinding ground attack.

It was a game of breaks, and heartbreaks, all the way and a thriller for 65,407 fans—largest attendance here since 1953. The Browns converted an intercepted pass and two recovered fumbles into scores, and the Rams did it with one intercepted pass and one fumble.

One big break stood out amid a flock of others which led to scores. The big one came in the third period, with Los Angeles out in front by 28 to 17—a score which the Browns could cure only by a pair of touchdowns.

Art Hauser, huge Ram tackle, had run 29 yards with a Cleveland fumble to put the 28-17 on the board, and with their regular quarterback out, the outlook for the Browns was dim.

Plum hit Brown with two short passes into the Cleveland 43, but it was fourth down. As the Browns went into kicking formation, ready to surrender the ball, a Ram lineman moved offside and the Browns had the first down which kept them alive.

That's all they needed. Plum hit end Darrell Brewster with a nine-yard pass, and Brown zoomed through left tackle for 33. Two plays later he was over the goal line, and it was 28-24 as Lou Groza converted.

The Browns kicked off. Jon Arnett was tossed for a two-yard loss by Vince Costello. Then someone hit Ram quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, and Don Colo recovered for Cleveland on the Rams' seven. Three plays later Brown scored again to make it 31-28. The big fellow then contributed a 46-yard run to the final touchdown which Lew Carpenter manufactured on a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Gillman figured that if the Browns had been forced to punt, instead of getting the first down on the penalty, the two quick touchdowns wouldn't have materialized.

Lou Groza came up with a 48-yard field goal, his twelfth in 17 attempts, and converted six times for a 23 of 23 performance for the season. That gave the "Toe" 59 points for the year, but he couldn't break the league-leading deadlock with George Blanda of the Chicago Bears. Blanda made two field goals and three conversions to match Groza's total, remaining tied at 59. Jim Brown has 54.

With Cleveland 7-1-1 and New York's defending champions 7-2-0, their Dec. 15 date in the big city probably will decide the eastern laurels. Cleveland plays Chicago's Cardinals (2-6-0) here next Sunday, then the Lions (5-4-0) at Detroit. The Giants, beaten 6-3 by the Browns in the opener, meet San Francisco (5-4-0) and Pittsburgh (4-4-0) before the big one.

All Area Teams To Play Tuesday

Only Jeff Outfit Will Be on Road

All four Fayette County high school cage teams will be in action Tuesday night and three of them will be playing on their home floors.

Bloomingburg's Bulldogs, with a record of three victories and two defeats, will entertain the basketeers from Kingston, the team that trounced Madison Mills, 61-46, last Thursday night.

New Holland's Bulldogs, with a 3-1 record, will visit their neighbor at Good Hope, whose Mad Anthonys will be out for their second victory of the season.

The Warriors will be looking for their first win when they meet the cagers from Fairfield on the Madison Mills court.

Jeffersonville's Tigers, who have won two of their first three games this season, will be the only Fayette County team playing on a foreign floor Tuesday night. They are booked for a game at the Ohio Deaf School in Columbus.

* * *

FOR THREE of the outfits, these will be the last games this month. Only Jeffersonville's Tigers have another game this week; they are slated for a game at New Vienna Friday night.

That is the night the fifth team in the county, the Lions of Washington C. H. High School, will open their season. Bexley's Lions will come here then from Columbus for the WHS curtain-raiser.

The four Fayette County High school teams will open the Fayette County League schedule the first week of December. The Mad Anthonys are to play their opener at Bloomingburg the night of Dec. 6 and the Tigers are to play a 'home' game with Madison Mills on the Bloomingburg floor on Dec. 7.

The next game for New Holland's Bulldogs will be Dec. 3 when they go to Madison South for their sixth game of the season.

After Mather Quits, Kansas Cops 4 Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas Jayhawks put on one of the most amazing finishes in the history of the Big Eight football conference by beating Missouri 9-7 Saturday.

Ray Barnes, a sophomore sub, booted a 14-year fieldgoal with 48 seconds to go and for the fourth straight Saturday Kansas had come from behind in the closing minutes to gain a victory.

Those four Saturdays came after Chuck Mather and his coaching staff announced they were bowing out at the end of the season. The four victories gave Kansas a 4-2 record in the conference and a 5-4-1 mark for the season—the best showing in years.

Kansas athletic authorities are expected to start Tuesday on the job of screening candidates for the coaching job. There was persistent talk at Lawrence it would go to Jack Mitchell, presently head coach at Arkansas.

Mitchell acknowledged he is headed for Lawrence to talk about the post but said it hadn't yet been offered to him. He is a native of Kansas and was a star quarterback at Oklahoma.

Mather quit the Kansas job under pressure after his 1957 team had won only one game, lost four and tied one. It was his first college coaching job after a tremendous success with high school teams at Massillon, Ohio.

Trader Lane Finding Deals Come Slowly

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Lane, baseball's master trader who was recently appointed general manager of the Cleveland Indians, might have trouble swinging deals in the American League this season.

Lane, who huddled with Vice-President Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox Sunday, has one goal in mind.

"I'm out to get our club a second baseman or a shortstop or both," he said. "I'm willing to trade but I must get what we need and those are our two weak positions."

Lane admitted he'll have trouble trading but hoped to be able to consummate the deals he has in mind.

"Sure, I'll have trouble making deals," said frantic Frank, "you always do. I couldn't do anything with Comiskey but we have a lot of time.

"I'm willing to trade Ray Narleski or Early Wynn for infield strength but I have to get what I want."

The Sox expressed interest in pitchers Don Mossi, Narleski and Wynn but when Lane asked for second baseman Nelson Fox and shortstop Luis Aparicio, the at ended.

Lane was also disappointed about missing out on infielder Billy Martin who went from Kansas City to Detroit in a multi-player deal.

Spartans Seeking NSAA Harrier Title

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The long distance runners of Michigan State will try for a triple slam in cross country at the 19th annual NCAA meet today.

The Spartans already have won the Big Ten and IC4A titles. They also will be after a third straight team victory in the four - mile NCAA grind.

Notre Dame, Kansas, Texas, Houston and Iowa are expected to give Michigan State the best run for the team title.

Jeff Cagers Lose in Overtime At Sabina Saturday Night

Jeffersonville's Tigers lost their first game of the season, the first in three starts, but it took a tall and "real good" team and overtime period to do it.

The Tigers, who had won their first two games, bowed to the boys from Sabina, 68 to 65, at Sabina Saturday night.

The Tigers matched their rugged hosts basket for basket on field goals but lost the game at the foul line. The Tigers made 17 of 28 free throws and the Sabinans 20 of 30.

What hurt the Tigers most were the seven free throws the Sabina boys hit in the overtime when they scored 11 points.

The Tigers came from behind to tie the game at 57 - all at the end of the regular time.

At the state of the overtime, the Sabinans got the tip at center and scored a quick field goal. Then they went into a stall to protect their 2 - point lead. The only recourse left the Tigers was to get the ball and that's when they committed the inevitable fouls.

* * *

WHILE THE Tigers managed to tally 8 points in the overtime, these were not enough to keep up with the foul - shooting Sabinans.

Coach Robert Hildreth said he was disappointed over the loss, but added it was nothing to be ashamed of because "Sabina has a real good team and we were at a terrific height disadvantage."

Three of the Sabina boys, Bentley, 6-7, Kuehn, 6-4 and Pauley, 6-2, were at least an inch taller than the two tallest Tigers, Burson and McDonald at 6-1 each.

Pauley, a jump shot artist who has been averaging 24 points a game, was held to one field goal, although he made eight free throws.

But, while the Tigers were were checking Pauley and Bentley, a couple of fast little guards, Stewart and Young, were keeping Sabina in the game with an amazing display of outside shooting. Each hit seven field goals.

Jim Smith, high scorer for the Tigers, got eight field goals, most of them from the side. Alva Hanners, who accounted for 16 points, got five field goal on drive-ins.

* * *

SI SIZEMORE, who was injured two weeks ago at Bowersville, was back in the lineup for Jeffersonville and accounted for 11 points.

The Tigers hit 36.9 per cent of their shots from the field and Sabina 37.5 per cent.

Despite their height disadvantage, the Tigers got just about an even break on the rebounds and bankboard control.

The Blue Devils were selected by the Atlantic Coast Conference although they took a 21-13 whipping from North Carolina Saturday. North Carolina State won the conference title with a 29-26 victory over South Carolina, but, like Auburn, is in the bad graces of the NCAA.

So no matter how it works out, there won't be an undefeated team in any of the four major bowls. That's a rarity.

When the U. S. Navy began 182 years ago, it had eight ships carrying 110 guns.

Buck-Backers Demand More Laurels for Their Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The greatest sweep of laurels in Ohio State football history appeared today to be the only thing which could bring Ohio State partisans more joy than they've already experienced this season.

Everyone connected with the team, from Coach Woody Hayes on down, feel that the national championship is rightfully theirs. Almost to a man, the supporters also claim that coach of the year honors should go to Hayes.

A convincing 31-14 victory over arch-rival Michigan Saturday probably did as much as anything to solidify these feelings.

The loyal haven't waited until now to make their feelings known, of course, but even the most lukewarm admirers are ready to concede that there might be something to this team, after all.

There is plenty of evidence to support the contentions. The Buckyes, steadily improving all season after an opening loss to Texas Christian, have put together an eight-game winning streak. The string was knotted nine days ago, when the Buckeyes clinched the Western Conference title with a 17-13 victory over Iowa, and pulled tight Saturday with the rout of Michigan.

Besides the Big Ten title, their third in four years, the Buckeyes have a Rose Bowl trip in their hip pocket. If they could add the national championship and coach of the year award, it would be without a doubt the greatest sweep in the school's football history.

The fact that the victories over Iowa and Michigan were accomplished without Don Clark, their star halfback sidelined by a groin injury, makes the Bucks' claims even more formidable.

Their display of power against Michigan was engineered by quarterback Frank Kremblas, who had his best day, according to Coach Hayes. The Buckeyes also got 163 of their 372 yards rushing from Bob White, the burly Covington, Ky., fullback who flashed to prominence with a one-man show against Iowa the week before.

The Buckeyes will name a new captain, or co-captains, tonight at the annual appreciation banquet. They'll then take a few days to catch up on their studies before settling down to Rose Bowl business.

Their opponent in the bowl at Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1, will be Oregon, Pacific Coast Conference co-champion with Oregon State.

In the midst of all this jubilation, Ohio State announced plans for distribution of nearly 17,000 tickets to the bowl game.

Various commitments for university-sponsored train and plane junkets and other Western Conference schools will cut the number available to 13,000.

The 13,000 will then be made available to four priority groups —students, faculty, West Coast members of the alumni association, benefactors, and season ticket holders of five or more consecutive years.

Students and faculty members will have to apply for tickets in person, but members of the other groups will be notified by mail Wednesday of the procedures. If any tickets remain after the priority sale, they will be offered to the general public Dec. 8.

Van Wert High School Trick Helps Colts Win Pro Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts are riding alone at the head of the westerners in the National Football League today with the help of a "flea flicker."

What's that? It's a football play. But don't feel left out if you've never heard of it.

Coach Web Ewbank went back in his memory about 30 years to find it.

"I was staying up nights last week trying to think up something new," he recalled Sunday after the hipper-dipper play aided the Colts in beating the San Francisco 49ers 27-21.

"I was taking a bath when I suddenly remembered a play we used when I was coaching high school. It was a play designed by the great Coach Bob Zuppke at Illinois. It was called the flea flicker."

Ewbank started coaching at Van Wert High School in Ohio in 1928, so no wonder the play was a surprise to the 50,073 pro fans and to the 49ers.

It went this way: Quarterback John Unitas took the ball from center and handed off to halfback Colton Davidson who ran to his right as though either to pass or run. Instead, he lateraled back across the field to Unitas who passed it 32 yards ahead to the other halfback, Lenny Moore. That put the ball on the 49er 11, from where L. G. Dupre went over to tie the score 14-14 at the half.

The 49ers scored another touchdown in the fourth quarter to offset two field goals by Steve Myrha and leave the Colts trailing 21-20 with four minutes to play. They went 82 yards to score on the passing of Unitas and break their first place tie with the 49ers and Detroit in the Western Conference. Detroit was bumped out of the three-way tie by the Chicago Bears, 27-7.

Chicago Keglers Leading Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago today carried a strong lead of 522 pins over St. Louis as the teams rolled to the midway mark in the National Match Game Bowling Tournament.

Sunday night, Chicago completed a weekend rout of the Missouri keglers to take a 12-game lead, 12,273 to 11,751. Both teams now move to St. Louis for the final 12 games next weekend.

Chicago's Stan Thaden rolled an impressive 731 series, the high so far in competition.

Ohio Boys To Captain Army, Navy Grid Teams

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — A former Youngstown high school football star, Jim Kernan, will captain the Army in Saturday's classic with Navy, and the Middies' captain, Ned Oldham, also is a former Youngstown area resident.

Oldham lived at nearby Poland for five years before moving to Silver Lake near Akron in 1942. His father, Albert Oldham is a lawyer in Akron.

Only 15 Teams Still Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auburn and Arizona State of Tempe are the only major teams among the 15 unbeaten college elevens going into the final week of the season. Each has won nine games and has one to play.

The list:

Ten Games — Pittsburgh, Kan.

Nine games — West Chester (Pa), Hillsdale, Middle Tenn. State, Idaho State, Auburn, and Arizona State.

Eight games—St. Norbert, Ripon, and Lock Haven, Pa.

Seven games—Fairmont (WVa), Juniata, and Florida A&M.

Six games — Hobard and Elon.

Proximity Achievement Award Goes to Ohioan

NEW YORK (AP)—The Proximity Achievement Award, given annually to the person judged to have done the most for harness racing during the year, was presented Sunday night to Walter J. Michael of Bucyrus, Ohio.

Michael, president of the Grandview, Painesville and Northfield trotting tracks in Ohio, was honored at the annual dinner of the U.S. Harness Writers' Assn.

Israel's railway lines now cover 382 miles.

Buck-Backers Demand More Laurels for Their Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The greatest sweep of laurels in Ohio State football history appeared today to be the only thing which could bring Ohio State partisans more joy than they've already experienced this season.

Everyone connected with the team, from Coach Woody Hayes on down, feel that the national championship is rightfully theirs. Almost to a man, the supporters also claim that coach of the year honors should go to Hayes.

A convincing 31-14 victory over arch-rival Michigan Saturday probably did as much as anything to solidify these feelings.

The loyal haven't waited until now to make their feelings known, of course, but even the most lukewarm admirers are ready to concede that there might be something to this team, after all.

There is plenty of evidence to support the contentions. The Buckyes, steadily improving all season after an opening loss to Texas Christian, have put together an eight-game winning streak. The string was knotted nine days ago, when the Buckeyes clinched the Western Conference title with a 17-13 victory over Iowa, and pulled tight Saturday with the rout of Michigan.

Besides the Big Ten title, their third in four years, the Buckeyes have a Rose Bowl trip in their hip pocket. If they could add the national championship and coach of the year award, it would be without a doubt the greatest sweep in the school's football history.

The fact that the victories over Iowa and Michigan were accomplished without Don Clark, their star halfback sidelined by a groin injury, makes the Bucks' claims even more formidable.

Their display of power against Michigan was engineered by quarterback Frank Kremblas, who had his best day, according to Coach Hayes. The Buckeyes also got 163 of their 372 yards rushing from Bob White, the burly Covington, Ky., fullback who flashed to prominence with a one-man show against Iowa the week before.

The Buckeyes will name a new captain, or co-captains, tonight at the annual appreciation banquet. They'll then take a few days to catch up on their studies before settling down to Rose Bowl business.

Their opponent in the bowl at Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1, will be Oregon, Pacific Coast Conference co-champion with Oregon State.

In the midst of all this jubilation, Ohio State announced plans for distribution of nearly 17,000 tickets to the bowl game.

Various commitments for university-sponsored train and plane junkets and other Western Conference schools will cut the number available to 13,000.

The 13,000 will then be made available to four priority groups —students, faculty, West Coast members of the alumni association, benefactors, and season ticket holders of five or more consecutive years.

Students and faculty members will have to apply for tickets in person, but members of the other groups will be notified by mail Wednesday of the procedures. If any tickets remain after the priority sale, they will be offered to the general public Dec. 8.

Van Wert High School Trick Helps Colts Win Pro Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts are riding alone at the head of the westerners in the National Football League today with the help of a "flea flicker."

What's that? It's a football play. But don't feel left out if you've never heard of it.

Coach Web Ewbank went back in his memory about 30 years to find it.

"I was staying up nights last week trying to think up something new," he recalled Sunday after the hipper-dipper play aided the Colts in beating the San Francisco 49ers 27-21.

"I was taking a bath when I suddenly remembered a play we used when I was coaching high school. It was a play designed by the great Coach Bob Zuppke at Illinois. It was called the flea flicker."

Ewbank started coaching at Van Wert High School in Ohio in 1928, so no wonder the play was a surprise to the 50,073 pro fans and to the 49ers.

It went this way: Quarterback John Unitas took the ball from center and handed off to halfback Cotton Davidson who ran to his right as though either to pass or run. Instead, he lateraled back across the field to Unitas who passed it 32 yards ahead to the other halfback, Lenny Moore. That put the ball on the 49er 11, from where L. G. Dupre went over to tie the score 14-14 at the half.

The 49ers scored another touchdown in the fourth quarter to offset two field goals by Steve Myrha and leave the Colts trailing 21-20 with four minutes to play. They went 82 yards to score on the passing of Unitas and break their first place tie with the 49ers and Detroit in the Western Conference. Detroit was bumped out of the three-way tie by the Chicago Bears, 27-7.

Chicago Keglers Leading Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago today carried a strong lead of 522 pins over St. Louis as the teams rolled to the midway mark in the National Match Game Bowling Tournament.

Sunday night, Chicago completed a weekend rout of the Missouri keglers to take a 12-game lead, 12,273 to 11,751. Both teams now move to St. Louis for the final 12 games next weekend.

Chicago's Stan Thaden rolled an impressive 731 series, the high so far in competition.

Ohio Boys To Captain Army, Navy Grid Teams

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — A former Youngstown high school football star, Jim Kernan, will captain the Army in Saturday's classic with Navy, and the Middies' captain, Ned Oldham, also is a former Youngstown area resident.

Oldham lived at nearby Poland for five years before moving to Silver Lake near Akron in 1942. His father, Albert Oldham is a lawyer in Akron.

Since the leaves are all down and pretty well raked up that's one worry that's over. We cleaned up the cottage yard, pulled the old boat out of the water, put out enough mouse bait to last all winter, set a bucket under a leak in the roof (don't tell Elma, she thinks we fixed it) piled up all the bed clothes out of mouse reach and locked up for the winter.

The 4-H Advisers Banquet last Wednesday eve. was a grand success. To me it represented a fine example of cooperation, good fellowship and working together. The meeting was very ably M. C.'d by Miss Linda McClaskie assisted by Robby Hagler, President of Junior leadership club. Reports by Mrs. Frank Dill and Mrs. Reynold Slaughter were excellent. Very few of us realize the amount of work done by all these advisers. Its value cannot be measured in dollars and cents. The Craig youngsters entertained with music during dinner. They must get their musical ability from their grandparents, Mart and Nina Morris. The meeting wound up with a fine talk by Rev. Sanford Lindsay formerly of this city.

I was happy to announce that the Fair Board purchased the Fairgrounds Wednesday afternoon, so 4-Her's, Junior Fair Board, Senior Fair Board and all the citizens of Fayette County let's build the best county fair in Ohio.

And to be sure you get there safely come out to Brandenburg's and get one of our fine '58 Buicks or Chevrolets or maybe one of our guaranteed used cars.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Salvage crews still are looking for Allen O. Glore in the ruins of two downtown buildings destroyed by an explosion and fire Saturday night.

Glore disappeared when the roof fell in on the print ship he operated on the top floor of the three-story Sterling Building. Frank Bingham, 55-year-old employe, managed to get to a window and down a fire escape.

Fire Chief Edgar M. Grass estimated the loss at more than $500,000 and said it was not determined what had touched off the explosion.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Salvage crews still are looking for Allen O. Glore in the ruins of two downtown buildings destroyed by an explosion and fire Saturday night.

Glore disappeared when the roof fell in on the print ship he operated on the top floor of the three-story Sterling Building. Frank Bingham, 55-year-old employe, managed to get to a window and down a fire escape.

Fire Chief Edgar M. Grass estimated the loss at more than $500,000 and said it was not determined what had touched off the explosion.

50 on Bloomingburg Lion Excursion

WHS Lions See Pro Grid Game As Guests of Boosters Club

Nearly 100 Fayette Countians saw the Browns wallop the Los Angeles Rams, 45 to 31, in Cleveland Sunday. Forty - four of them were Lions and managers of the Washington C. H. High School football squad; the rest were football fans who went on the excursion sponsored by the Bloomingburg Lions Club.

The WHS Lions left in eight private cars here about 9 a. m. Saturday and arrived at the Hollenden Hotel in Cleveland by mid - afternoon. Saturday evening, the boys went to shows, took in the sights of the state's biggest city and several went bowling.

Sunday morning most of them went to church and then wandered around downtown Cleveland until dinner time.

The afternoon, of course, was spent in the huge Cleveland Stadium watching the professionals play football.

* * *

THE TRIP was sponsored by the Boosters Club as a reward for the play and sportsmanship of the Lions during the past football season. It cost the club "around $600."

The boys were taken to Cleveland in cars driven by Mac Dews Jr., Richard Gillen, Russell Campbell, Bill Carter, Bob Wilson, R. H. Stoddard, Coach Fred Domenico and Assistant Coach Marvin Merritt (John Gerstner's car).

The squad headquartered at the Hollenden Hotel, where the boys returned to get the money (provided by the Boosters Club) for each meal. Coach Domenico explained that, under this plan, the boys were never out of touch with the men who took them very long. "This gave us periodical checks on the boys," he pointed out.

* * *

DOMENICO said he and the other men on the trip were "very proud" of the boys. "They conducted themselves like gentlemen all the time," he said. The hotel management, he added, commended the boys for their behavior, too.

At the Browns - Rams game, the Lions had a block of seats behind the goal posts— just the place, they said, where boys who play football can see play on the field best.

They started the 225 - mile drive back home right after the game, arriving here around 11:30 p. m. Sunday.

That the boys had a good time, was made clear in the reaction of several of them to a question by Dews. He asked: "Was this better than a banquet?" The answer was a chorus of "Yeses."

Incidentally, this was the first time many of the boys ever had been in Cleveland and the first time many of them ever had spent the night in a big city hotel—either, or both, of which provided a long - to - be - remembered adventure, Domenico said.

* * *

THE FANS who went on the Bloomingburg Lions excursion train, either drove to Columbus in their own cars or took the special bus from Bloomingburg. They left Columbus at 8:30 a. m. Sunday and got back at 9:30 p. m.

They had seats high up in the stadium (under the overhanging roof) on the 40 - yard line. The seats at the game were included in the $13 cost of the trip.

Close to a dozen alleys, in blocks from Hinde St. to North St., have been zoned as one-way throughfares for several months now. "A lot of people act as if they never learned that," the chief comment ed.

"We've got those signs there for a purpose, and we're going to enforce them," the chief said, commenting that it was "very dangerous" to proceed the wrong way in the narrow channels.

"The police have been instructed to concentrate on this and ticket violators," the chief said.

COLUMBUS (AP) — Two veteran judges of the Ohio Supreme Court today announced for reelection next year.

Charles B. Zimmerman seeks the Democratic nomination for a six-year term beginning Jan. 1, 1959.
